STEANE is a parish about 2½ miles north-west from Brackley and 2 south-east from Farthinghoe station, in the Southern division of the county. Brackley union and county court district, hundred of King's Sutton, rural deanery of Brackley (third portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, and consists of three farm-houses (one of which is the remains of the old manor house) and a few dispersed cottages. The church of St. Peter is a small but beautiful rectangular structure of stone, built in the year 1620 by Thomas (afterwards Sir Thomas) Crewe: it consists only of nave with aisles, without either chancel or tower, and has no bells: the parapet is profusely decorated: the crimson velvet coverings for the communion table, reading desk and pulpit, as well as the Bible and Common Prayer-Book, said to have been used "by the King himself," belonged in the reign of Charles II. to the Chapel Royal, St. James', and are supposed to have been given to this church by Nathaniel, Lord Crewe of Steane, Bishop of Durham (1674-1722); there are also six splendidly bound Prayer-Books having the Royal insignia of King William III. on the covers; in the south aisle, which is separated from the nave by ornamental oak gates, are several monuments and tablets of marble to the Crewe family; on the north side is a very handsome and massive monument, consisting of marble pillars supporting a canopy surmounted by pinnacles, between which are placed the armorial bearings of Crewe, richly carved and decorated; on an altar tomb at the base are recumbent marble figures of Sir Thomas Crewe M.P. Speaker of the House of Commons, who died Feb. 1st, 1633, and Temperance (Bray), his wife, who died Oct. 25th, 1619; a marble tablet, with arms, is inscribed to John, Lord Crewe, Baron of Steane, d. Dec. 13th, 1679, and Jemima (Waldegrave), his wife, Oct. 14th, 1675; another very fine marble monument, inclosed by iron railings, consists of a table tomb of freestone, on which are marble pillars, supporting a frieze and pediment, Barford Thomas, farmer

STOKE BRUERN is a village and parish 4 miles north-east from Towcester, about 1½ west from the Roade station, 3¼ between these are two marble busts, and in the centre an inscribed tablet, flanked by niches containing figures; over all is a shield of arms, richly embellished, this monument commemorates Thomas, Lord Crewe, Baron of Steane, who died Nov. 30th, 1697; there is also a tablet with marble pillars, coloured and gilt, supporting trophies, to Nathaniel Lord Crewe, Lord Bishop of Durham and Baron of Steane, d. Sept. 18th, 1721, and to his wife, Dorothy (Foster), d. Oct. 16th, 1715: his first wife, Penelope (Frowde) was also buried in the chapel in 1699; on the south side is a marble monument, consisting of an arch, enclosing a female bust, flanked by niches with figures; on either side are marble pillars bearing a concave arch, enclosing and surmounted by other emblematic devices: the inscription is to Temperance (Crewe), wife of John Browne esq. of Eydon, d. Sept. 22nd, 1634: many ancient funeral relics, chiefly helmets, gauntlets and standards are suspended from the walls: here is also an early font, recently dug up in an adjoining field; service is held here on the first Sunday in the month during the six summer months in the year only. The register is included in that of Hinton, which dates from the year 1558. The living is a discharged rectory annexed to that of Hinton-in-the-Hedges, joint yearly value £250, in the gift of Earl Spencer K.G. and held since 1864 by the Rev. George Dewhurst Atwood, of Pembroke College, Oxford. Earl Spencer K.G., P.C., D.C.L. &c. is lord of the manor and sole landowner. The soil is sand and clay; subsoil, brashy and heavy clay. The chief crops are wheat and barley. The area is 1,139 acres; rateable value, £1,379 13s.; the population in 1881 was 44.

union and county court district of Towcester, rural deanery of Preston second, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The Grand Junction canal runs through the centre of the village at a high level and has seven locks to lift the navigation from the valley to the entrance of the Blisworth tunnel through which the boats are drawn by a steam tug. The church of St. Mary, situated on a slight eminence, is a spacious building of stone, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, north and south porches and an embattled western tower containing 5 bells and a clock: the screen and pulpit are of carved oak: in the chancel is a brass with male effigy in a gown and ruff, kneeling at a desk; in the upper corners are shields of arms and below an inscription to Richard Lightfoot, 23 years rector of this parish, who died in 1625, aged 63 years; there are piscine in both aisles: a stained window was inserted in south aisle by the parishioners, in January, 1877, at a cost of about £90, to the memory of the Rev. F. H. Lee M.A. for 40 years rector of this parish: the chancel was restored in 1881, at a cost of £900, under the direction of Mr. E. Swinfen Harris F.R.I.B.A. of Stony Stratford, when an organ chamber and vestry were added. The register dates from the year 1560. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £545, net yearly value £375, including 66 acres of glebe, 11 cottages and residence, in the gift of Brasenose College, Oxford, and held since 1876 by the Rev. Robert Spedding Wilson M.A. formerly fellow and tutor of that college. The charities for distribution amount to £35 yearly. Stoke Park, the property of Frederick William Thomas Vernon-Wentworth esq. M.A., J.P. of Wentworth Castle, Barnsley, is the residence of B. Wentworth Vernon esq. J.P.; the residence is an ancient mansion of stone, begun in the year 1603 and completed in 1607, by Sir Francis Crane: it was frequently visited by Charles I. who occasionally passed some time there: from Sir Francis Crane it passed into Lord Arundel's family, and from thence to Lady Henrietta Wentworth (daughter and co-heiress of the last Earl of Strafford), who married Henry Vernon esq. of Hilton park, Staffordshire, in whose family it now remains; the Princess Amelia (daughter of George III.) passed much of her time here; the house stands in the middle of a well-wooded park of 400 acres, and contains some fine pictures by Vanduyke, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Romney and others. The principal landowners are the Duke of Grafton K.G., C.B. who is lord of the manor, Sir Thomas George Fernor-Hesketh bart. of Easton Neston, and F. W. T. Vernon-Wentworth esq. The soil is clay; snobool, clay. The chief crops are wheat, beans and barley. The population in 1881 with its hamlet was 841. Stoke Bruern has 1,332 acres; rateable value, £1,807; Shutlanger has 1,268 acres; rateable value, £1,652; total—Stoke Bruern parish has 2,600 acres; rateable value, £3,459.

Shuttlehanger (or SHUTTLEHANGER) is a large hamlet in the parish of Stoke Bruern, from which village it is 1 mile west, 3 miles north-east from Towcester and $\frac{3}{4}$ from the Blisworth station. Here is a Wesleyan chapel and a building supposed to have been formerly a residence connected with the Cistercian Nunnery, at Sewardlesley: it is an edifice of stone, in the form of a parallelogram, with a massive porch on the south side having a stone groined roof; it is now (1885) converted into cottage tenements. The area is 1,268 acres; the rateable value, £1,652; and the population in 1881 was 403. A school chapel was built here in 1884, at a cost of over £500, on a site given by Sir T. G. Fernor-Hesketh bart. from the designs of Mr. M. Holding A.R.I.B.A. of Northampton, and was opened January 26th, 1885: it will hold 150 people. William Davis, of Little Billing, died here in 1751, aged 114 years, and Mrs. Ann Cockbott also died here in 1775, aged 104 years.

SULGRAVE is a large village and parish, 7 miles north-west from Brackley, 7½ north-east from Banbury, 2 west-½ north from Helmdon station and 3 south from Moreton Pinkney station, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Chipping Warden, union and county court district of Brackley, rural deanery of Brackley first, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The river Tove, or Towe, rises in this parish. The church of St. James is a building of stone, consisting of chancel, nave, south aisle, north and south porches and an embattled western tower containing 5 bells; at the east end of the aisle is a brass inscribed to Lawrence Washington, ob. 1564, with effigies of himself, Aimée his wife, daughter of Robert Fargiter, of Greatworth, and eleven children: at the west end of the north aisle is a stained window, erected by Mr. Richard Taylor to the memory of his children: the church was restored in 1885, at a cost of £1,900; the work undertaken includes the building of a north aisle, new roofs to the whole structure, the removing of the galleries, reflooring and refitting the interior and the renewing of the windows. The register dates from the year 1668. The living is a discharged vicarage, gross yearly value £160, including 104 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Simon's trustees, and held since 1882 by the Rev. James William Harding B.A. of Wadham College, Oxford. Here is a Baptist chapel erected in 1844; and a Wesleyan chapel built in 1863. The charities amount to about £43 14s. chiefly left in 1776 by Robert Gardiner, of which £450 are invested in £3 per Cent Consols. Westward of the church is Castle Hill, and about a mile northward of the village is a tumulus called "Barrow Hill," from which spot a most extensive view of the surrounding counties can be obtained. Lawrence Washington, of Gray's Inn, mayor of Northampton in 1532 and 1545, who resided at the Manor house here and is buried in the church, received from the king a grant of certain lands which belonged to the priory of Canons Ashby: this land was sold at his death by his two sons Robert and Lawrence; and the latter retiring to Brighton, died there in 1616, and is commemorated by a monument in Brighton church: after his death his second son John, who was the great-great-grandfather of General George Washington, the American patriot, with a younger brother, emigrated in 1657 to Virginia, and from these two all the American Washingtons are descended. In the porch of the Manor house are two shields, bearing the arms of Washington, which furnished the idea of the American national flag. The representatives of the late Col. Hon. Henry Hely-Hutchinson are lords of the manor, Viscount Valentia, of Bletchington park, Oxon, and John Whitton esq. are the principal landowners. The soil is various. The chief crops are wheat, beans and barley and a considerable extent of pasture land. The area is 1,954 acres: rateable value, £2,904 9s. 9d.; and the population in 1881 was 459.

SUTTON is a parish, 6 miles west from Peterborough, three-quarters of a mile south-east from Wansford Road station on the Sibson and Stamford branch of the Great Northern railway, in the Northern division of the county, on the borders of Hunts, Nassaburgh or Peterborough liberty, Peterborough union and county court district, rural deanery of Peterborough first, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Michael is an ancient structure of stone, in the Norman and Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, south aisle and a turret containing 1 bell: the stained east window was placed by the Rev. William Hopkinson to the memory of his uncle; and there are others erected to Mr. W. Hopkinson and his daughter Mrs. Mary Johnson, and to Mr. Charles Palmer: the church was restored in 1867 under the direction of Mr. Sykes: there are sittings for 77 persons. The register of marriages dates from the year 1758; baptisms, 1763; burials, 1788; all earlier registers are incorporated with those of Castor, the mother church. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge £194, net yearly value £187, including 19½ acres of glebe, in the gift of the Rev. William Hopkinson M.A. and held since 1851 by the Rev. William Merton M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge.

SUTTON BASSETT is a parish and village 3 miles north-east from Market Harborough, 11 north-west from Kettering and 1 south-west from Ashley and Weston station on the London and North Western railway, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Corby, union and county court district of Market Harborough, rural deanery of Weldon first, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The river Welland separates it from Leicestershire. The very ancient church of St. Mary at this place forms a chapel of ease to Weston-by-Welland, and was rebuilt about 1856, at the cost of the landowners, occupiers and others; it is in the Perpendicular style and consists of chancel and nave, with a bell-cot on the western gable containing 1 bell. The register, including Weston, dates from the year 1576. The living is a vicarage united with Weston-by-Welland, joint gross yearly value £300 with residence, in the gift of and held since 1862 by the Rev. Samuel Danby.

SYRESHAM is a village and parish on the borders of Bucks, 4½ miles north-east from Brackley and 3 south-east from Helmdon station, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of King's Sutton, Brackley union and county court district, rural deanery of Brackley second, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, situate on the road from Brackley to Towcester. The church of St. James is a building of stone, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch attached to the tower, and a low western tower with shingled spire containing 5 bells: the organ chamber was built in memory of the Rev. C. S. Peel, a former rector, who died Sept. 1874, by his widow, and there is also a tablet to him in the chancel: here is an old Norman font; all the seats, 400 in number, are free: the church has been thrice restored, and the last time in the year 1874, but still needs renovation: there is a piscina at the east end of the south aisle: the porch is very peculiar, being apparently a continuation of the aisle, with an entrance at the west end, close to the tower: in 1880 a reredos, communion-table and cloth and a stained east window were presented by Miss Dorrner. The register of baptisms and burials dates from the year 1668; marriages, 1737. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £120, gross yearly value £200, including 25 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the late Clement Upton Cottrell Dorrner esq. of Rousham park, Oxon, and held since 1859 by the Rev. Oswald Pattison Sergeant M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. Here is a chapel for Wesleyans, erected in 1846. The charity-money due to the poor of Syresham at Christmas 1884, amounted to £29 11s. 4d. arising from rent of lands, awarded to the parish by the Inclosure Act in lieu of common rights, and from interest on a bequest of Mrs. Alice Hammond, whose will is dated Jan. 1788; and from a bequest of Mrs. Leeson, late of SYWELL is a small picturesque village and parish, surrounded by woodland, 5 miles west from Wellingborough, 6 north-east from Northampton and 9½ south-west from Kettering, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Hamfordshoe, union and county court district of Wellingborough, rural deanery of Rothwell (first portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of SS. Peter and Paul is a building of stone, consisting of chancel with vestry on the north, nave, north transept, south aisle and south porch and an embattled western tower with pinnacles, and containing 3 bells: the chancel is of the transitional period from Early English to Decorated: the east and west windows of the aisle are Perpendicular: the tower is Decorated; there are piscines on the south side of chancel and at the east end of the aisle; in the transept is a hagioscope: in 1862 the chancel was rebuilt and paved with stone, at the cost of the Rev. R. Baillie, then rector; the remainder of the church was restored and partly rebuilt in 1870 by Lord Overstone, at a cost of about £1,700; an organ was then erected and the church re-seated with open benches, and re-opened 4th May, 1871; there are a number of mural tablets to the Willmer and Pell families, one to the Hon. Lady Mary Willmer, daughter of Charles, Earl of Tankerville and wife of W. Willmer esq. of this place: she died in 1772; in the transept is a mural monument to Robert Willmer and Elizabeth his wife, dated 1612. The THENFORD is a small village and parish 1½ miles north from Farthinghoe station, 5½ north-west-by-west from Brackley and 5 east from Banbury, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of King's Sutton, Brackley union and county court district, rural deanery of Brackley third, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Mary is an ancient building of stone, in mixed styles, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, north porch and an embattled western tower containing 5 bells: in the south wall of the chancel is a piscina in excellent preservation: the north aisle contains a very fine recumbent effigy of stone, in splendid preservation, apparently of the sixteenth century, but without inscription: in the north aisle is a stained window of very ancient date, with figures of two saints: the nave and aisles were restored in 1877, at the cost of the Rev. Arthur Severne, late rector, and other members of that family: the chancel in 1884 by the late Mrs. Severne, sen. under the direction of Mr. Freedy, archi-register dates from the year 1571. The living is a rectory, title rent-charge £540, net yearly value £520, including 70 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Earl Brownlow, and held since 1861 by the Rev. Robert Baillie M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. The rectory house, enlarged by the present rector in 1862, is charmingly situated, and commands a fine view of woodland scenery. There is a charity of £2 called Marriott's charity, left in 1736, and one of £4 4s. called Pell's, founded in 1867, and distributed in flour to widows of this parish. The Hall, a fine Elizabethan stone mansion, is in the occupation of Mrs. Underwood. The village was rebuilt in 1861 by the late Lady Overstone. Col. Sir Robert Loyd-Lindsay V.C., K.C.B., M.P. of Overstone, is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is partly stiff loam and partly red clay; subsoil, chiefly ironstone. The church of St. John the Baptist is a building of stone in the Early English and Decorated styles, consisting of chancel with mortuary chapel, nave, north aisles, south porch and a western tower with spire containing 4 bells; it has been refitted with new sittings in oak and a new open oak roof, at a cost of £2,200; it contains monuments to the family of Elmes and also to Sir Thomas Powys knt. justice of the Queen's Bench, who purchased the manor of Lilford in 1711 and died April 4th, 1719, also to the Hon. Charles Powys R.N. who died Aug. 13, 1804, and the Hon. Henry Powys, capt. 83rd Regiment who died of wounds received in the attack on Badajoz, April, 1812, sons of the first Lord Lilford, to the first three Barons Lilford, 1800, 1825 and 1861 and there is a brass and marble tablet to the Hon. Adelaide Mary Powys, 1873, and the Rev. Littleton Powys M.A., rector of Titchmarsh, 1842; a monument has been erected in the south side of the chancel to the Hon. Thomas Atherton Powys, eldest son of Lord Lilford, who died in November, 1883; in 1862 the church was restored and a north aisle built, new open timbered oak roof placed and the interior reseated under the direction of William Slater esq. architect, of London, at a cost of £2,200. The register dates from the year 1591. The living is a rectory with the vicarage of Lilford annexed, joint gross annual value £380 in the gift of Lord Lilford, and held since 1877 by the Rev. William Percy Powys M.A. of University College, Oxford. A Sunday school with houses attached was erected here through the munificent gift of the Rev. C. L. Powys, in memory of his sister. Near the Thrapston road stands an ancient barn, with a massive open-timbered roof. In the centre of the parish is a well, constructed at the cost of the Lady Mary Elizabeth Lilford, in memory of her grandson, the Hon. Thomas Atherton Powys, mentioned above. Lord Lilford is lord of the manor and sole landowner. The soil is clay; subsoil, clay and limestone. The chief crops are hay, wheat, seeds, barley and beans. The area, with Achurch, is 1,510 acres; rateable value, £2,445; the population in 1881 was 143.

a substantial bridge, which connects the town with the village of Islip. The London and North Western railway has a first-class station adjoining the town: it is the central station between Northampton and Peterborough. A line was opened in February, 1866, by the Midland Railway Company from Kettering by Thrapston to Cambridge. The church of St. James is a building of stone, in the Early English, Decorated and Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, transepts and an embattled western tower with spire containing 5 bells: most of the piers and arches are Early English, the chancel Decorated and the tower and spire Perpendicular: in the chancel are three sedilia, with crocketed canopies and a double piscina: in the north aisle is another piscina of Early English date: in the nave and aisles were rebuilt in 1841: the east window, placed in 1863, is a memorial to Mr. J. Yorke, a magistrate and deputy chairman of the quarter sessions and was subscribed for by his friends: on the south side of the chancel is a memorial window to George Eland esq. erected by his family in 1872. The register dates from the year 1560. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value from 221 acres of glebe £447, net £400 with residence, in the gift of the Lord Chancellor, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Septimus Kingsford M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. Here are Baptist and Methodist chapels. A sum of money producing £21 10s. yearly was left by Mrs. Montague of this town about the year 1845, for the education of 12 girls and afterwards transferred as an endowment, to the National schools by order of the Master of the Rolls: a sum of money producing £1 yearly under the will of Mrs. Mary Ekins is also applied to this school. A County Police Station, with magistrates' room attached was built in 1866: in which magistrates' meetings and petty sessions are now held once a fortnight. The Freemasons have a lodge here, meetings being held in an hotel in the town. A very extensive market for grain, cattle, sheep and pigs is held on Tuesday. A Corn Exchange was built in 1848 by Mr. Freeman Roe, of the Strand, London, and a cattle market was established in 1871. Fairs are held on the first Tuesday in May, 5th of August and on the first Tuesday after Old Michaelmas day. The exclusive right of levying tolls and holding fairs in the town is now vested in the Market Company, established by special Act of Parliament, granted in the year 1870. The trustees of the late Thomas Burton esq. are lords of the manor. The area is 1,134 acres; rateable value, £6,629; the population in 1881 was 1,366, including 97 officers and inmates in the workhouse.

THURNING is a parish, partly in this county but principally in that of Huntingdon, and particulars will be found in Kelly's directory of Huntingdonshire.

TICHMARSH (or TITCHMARSH) is a village and parish 1 miles east from Thrapston and 1 south from Thorpe station on the London and North Western railway, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Navisford, union and county court district of Thrapston, rural deanery of Higham Ferrers (second portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough, situate on the river Nene. The church of St. Mary the Virgin is a large and handsome edifice of stone, in the Early English, Decorated and Perpendicular styles with traces of Norman work, consisting of chancel with chantry, nave, aisles, north transept and a remarkably fine Perpendicular western tower, with a very rich pierced battlemented parapet and eight pinnacles and containing 6 bells: it contains monuments to the Pickering and Creed families, including Theophilus Pickering D.D. 1710; Sir John Pickering bart. 1703; Sir Gilbert Pickering bart. 1735; Sir Edward Pickering bart. 1740; and others of this family, from 1703 to 1766; John Creed, 1701; Col. John Creed, 1751 and others of the same name: a memorial to Sir Erasmus Dryden, 1722, and Mary (Pickering), his wife, and a brass to Mrs. Florence Augusta Stopford, wife of the present rector, 1876: the reredos, of alabaster and Irish marbles, was erected in memory of relatives by the Attenborough family, who have also filled the east and two chancel windows with stained glass, and have united with

Lord Lilford in erecting a new organ, at a cost of £400: a third window in the chancel has been filled with stained glass by subscription. The register dates from the year 1543. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £16, gross yearly value £800, including glebe, with residence, in the gift of Lord Lilford, and held since 1861 by the Rev. Frederick Manners Stopford M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford, rural dean of Higham Ferrers (second portion) and hon. chaplain in ordinary to the Queen. There is a large room, built in the year 1863, by the Tichmarsh Benefit Club, established in 1836, and now (1885) consisting of 120 members. The Wesleyans have a chapel here, erected in the year 1871; there is also a Meeting House for Baptists. There are eight almshouses, erected in 1756, and endowed by the Pickering family, with property now producing £175 yearly: each inmate receives 5s. per week; two others were erected by a donation of the late Thomas Coates esq. and two by a bequest of the late T. Knight esq.: the total income is £280 yearly: there is besides the Pickering charity of £48 yearly, derived from land, left in 1756, by Edward Pickering, for the poor of this parish; the Knight charity, of £33 yearly, derived from funded property, left in 1862 by Thomas Knight, of Yorkshire, for the poor of this parish. Lord Lilford D.L., J.P. is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is clay, sand and gravel; subsoil, clay, sand and rock. The chief crops are hay, wheat, barley and beans. The area is 4,480 acres; rateable value, £5,944; the population in 1881 was 920.

TIFFIELD is a small village and parish 2 miles north from Towcester and 3 south-west from the Blisworth railway station, in the Southern division of the county, hundred, union and county court district of Towcester, rural deanery of Brackley second, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. John is an ancient edifice of stone, in mixed style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 3 bells: on the south side of the chancel are double sedilia: the church was thoroughly restored in 1873, at a cost of £500, under the direction of Mr. H. C. Vernon, architect, of London, and a stained east window has been inserted by the Rev. J. T. H. Delafons, rector, in memory of his daughter. The register dates from the year 1559. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value £300 with residence, in the gift of Lord Southampton, and held since 1858 by the Rev. John Thomas Harcourt Delafons M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Cambridge, and rural dean of Brackley second. A sum of £11 yearly, being the rent of land allotted by the Enclosure Commissioners, in 1780, in lieu of forest rights, is disbursed as follows:—£6 to the poor of the parish and £5 towards the repairs and maintenance

TOWCESTER is a market and union town, parish, polling place for the Southern division of the county and head of a county court district, and is in the hundred of Towcester, rural deanery of Brackley (second), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, having a station on the Northampton and Banbury and East and West Junction railways, 8 miles south-west-by-south from Northampton, 12 south-east from Daventry, 5½ from London by road and 67 per rail and 4½ from the Blisworth Junction station on the London and North Western railway, from which their line to this town diverges, situated on the river Tove and the old Watling Street. Towcester is considered to have been a Roman station, an opinion derived from the discovery of numerous coins and other antiquities on this spot, especially on an artificial eminence called "Bury Mount," north-east of the town, and on the north-west side are vestiges of a fosse. During the Saxon era this town suffered much from the continued attacks of the Danes. About the year 921 a mandate was issued by Edward the Elder for rebuilding and fortifying the town and it was in consequence surrounded by a stone wall, of which, however, no trace can now be discerned. The name of this place is written in Domesday Book "Tovecestre," a city or fortified place on the river Tove. The town, which is lighted with gas and well supplied with water, consists principally of one long street of well-built houses and is paved under the direction of the trustees of the charities of Archdeacon Sponne, who by his will, dated 4th September, 1447, devised for that purpose the Tabard (or Talbot) inn, with certain lands, now producing about £150 yearly, on trust to apply the net rents after payments for repairs in keeping in repair the footway and for doles to the poor. The church of St. Laurence, situated in the centre of the town, is a very ancient edifice of stone, partly in the Early English style, and consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, ance of the church; Mrs. Jane Leeson's charity of 10s. left 27th May, 1646, is distributed amongst the widows in the parish at Christmas. The principal landowners are Sir Thomas George Fernor-Heaketh bart. of Easton Neston, who is also lord of the manor, Capt. Blake, Mr. C. E. Roper and the trustees of Mr. Bates. The soil is clay; subsoil, clay. The chief crops are wheat, peas and beans. The area is 1,253 acres; rateable value, £1,578; the population in 1881 was 245, including 47 in the reformatory.

Parish Clerk, Thomas Furness.

POST OFFICE.—Miss Emma Perkins, sub-postmistress. Letters are received through Towcester at 7 a.m.; dispatched at 6.20 p.m. The nearest money order & telegraph office is at Towcester. No delivery or dispatch on sundays

SCHOOLS:—

National (mixed), built with teacher's house, at a cost of £593, in 1872, for 48 children; average attendance, 32; Miss Fanny Foster, certificated mistress

Northamptonshire Reformatory, founded in 1856; it will hold 50 boys & there are now (1885) 44 boys; Frederic Horth, superintendent south porch and a noble embattled western tower containing 6 bells with chimes and a clock; in the south aisle is an altar tomb supported on eight buttressed shafts, with open cusped arches; the upper slab, which is ornamented with the arms of Sponne and roses, bears the recumbent effigy of an ecclesiastic, attired in a long cassock, surplice and a furred tippet and hood; in the open space below is a cadaver, and on the wall above the tomb is a wooden tablet inscribed to William Sponne, archdeacon of Norfolk and rector of Towcester, 1422-48; on the repewing of the church in 1835, the tomb was lowered, and on being opened, the skeleton of the archdeacon was found in perfect preservation; on the south wall of the chancel is a monument of alabaster, painted and gilt, to Hierome Farmore esq. 1602, and Jane, his wife; in the centre, under a double arch, are figures of both kneeling at a desk: in the chancel is a piscina, and in the south aisle an ancient stall with desk, to which is chained a number of black letter books, including a Bible, Foxe's Book of Martyrs and a Book of Homilies of 1562; the organ, a fine toned instrument of foreign manufacture, was purchased by George, Earl of Pomfret, for the sum of £1,000, and presented by him to the church in 1817; it is enclosed in a superb case; the east window is stained, and there are memorial windows in the south aisle to Thomas Drayson, of Patisshall, who died July 9, 1872, erected by his mother and to Thomas White Gurney, of Towcester, who died in December, 1873, erected by his widow: the church was repaired and reseated in 1836, and in 1883 the interior was restored, at a cost of about £1,800, under the direction of Mr. J. L. Pearson M.A.: the fittings are all of oak; there are sittings for 1,176 persons, all seats being free: the churchyard has been enlarged by the addition of about half an acre of ground, presented by the Earl of Pomfret. The register dates from the year 1561. The living is a discharged vicarage, endowed with £300 private benefaction and £200 royal bounty, gross yearly value £300 with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough, and held since 1874 by the Rev. William Hill Lee M.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge. There are two Baptist chapels erected respectively in 1788 and 1853, and Congregational and Wesleyan chapels. The Cemetery, situated in the Brackley road, has an area of two acres and is superintended by a Burial Board of nine members. The principal manufactures are pillow lace and shoes, the latter employing many of the inhabitants. There is a malting and one brewery. Fairs for cattle and pleasure are held on the 12th of May and 29th of October; the latter was formerly noted for the large quantity of onions brought for sale. The market day is on Tuesday. Stock sales are held every alternate Tuesday, and the Grafton Hunt steeplechase races are held on Easter Monday. The Town Hall and Corn Exchange, situated in the High street, is an edifice in the Italian style, erected in 1866, from designs by Mr. T. H. Vernon, at a cost of about £3,000; the building is partly occupied as offices, shop, stores and committee rooms. The large hall, 58 feet long by 35 broad and 28 feet high, is let for meetings and public entertainments; attached to the structure is a tower with illuminated clock. The Police Station, erected in 1852, has chambers for magisterial and other business, and attached to it on each side of the hall are dwellings for the inspector and two constables, with four cells for the confinement of prisoners. Charities:—Richard Hicks, by deed of 22nd March, 1520, gave certain messuages and lands, the rents of which are applied towards the repair of the church and in payment of the organist's salary; Thomas Bickerstaff, of this place erected three almshouses and endowed the same in 1659 with £250 laid out in the purchase of 28 acres of land, the rents to be appropriated towards the repairs and a weekly allowance to the occupants, to which Mr. Simon Adams added the proceeds of £150 for the finishing of the almshouses and for keeping them in repair; in 1815 they were rebuilt and divided into five tenements; several other donations have been made in connection therewith, to be distributed in money and coals at various periods of the year; the remaining charities are given to the poor of Towcester yearly. Archdeacon Sponne was the founder of a chantry in this town, which, falling to the Crown in the reign of Edward VI. was by him granted to Richard Heyborne and William Dally, of whom the feoffees of Archdeacon Sponne repurchased and converted it into a Grammar school in 1552, with a house and garden for the master, the same being endowed with certain houses and land; the income arising therefrom, together with the interest of a bequest of £100 by William Marriott, of Gray's Inn, in 1717, amounts to about £64 yearly: the school is now (1885) in abeyance until the arrangements for a new scheme are completed, the foundation scholars being in the meantime educated at Dr. Knight's school. Elm Lodge is the seat of Thomas Ridgway esq. Sir Thomas George Fernor Hesketh bart. of Easton Neston, who is lord of the manor, and University College, Oxford, are the principal landowners. The area is 3,631 acres; rateable value, £9,780; the population in 1881, with the hamlets, was 2,834, including 91 officers and inmates in the workhouse.

CALDECOTE is a hamlet in the parish of Towcester, from which town it is 1½ miles north-by-east. Here is a Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1846.

HANDLEY is a secluded hamlet in the parish of Towcester, 1½ miles south-west from the town and consisting of a few farmhouses and cottages.

WOOD BURCOTE is another hamlet about 1 mile south. Sexton, William Webb.

UFFORD is a parish 8 miles north-west-by-west from Peterborough, 5 south-east from Stamford, 1 mile and a half south-east from Barnack station on the Great Northern railway, in the Northern division of the county, liberty of Peterborough, union and county court district of Stamford, rural deanery of Peterborough second, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The parish is intersected by the river Welland and the Roman road from Caistor to Lincoln, and also by the railway from Stamford to Wansford. The church of St. Andrew is an ancient edifice of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 3 bells; the chancel, which has been restored at a cost of about £750, was reopened by Bishop Mitchinson on St. Andrew's day, Friday, November 30, 1883; the floor has been lowered to the original level, a new oak roof placed, the sedilia and piscina uncovered, and a new east window inserted. The register, including Ashton, dates from the year 1570; it is, however, deficient as to baptisms and burials from 1645 to 1652, and as to marriages from 1636 to 1652; it is also further deficient as to all from 1675 to 1694. The living is a rectory with the chapelry of Bainton annexed, tithe rent-charge £460, joint net yearly value £450, including 40 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of St. John's College, Cambridge, and held since 1831 by the Rev. William Spicer Wood, jun. M.A. formerly fellow of that college. Ufford Hall, the property of Lord Kesteven, is occupied by T. G. Mason esq. Lord Kesteven is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is clay; sub-soil, limestone. The chief crops are wheat and barley. The area, including Ashton, is 2,320 acres; rateable value, £3,850; the population in 1881 was 152.

ASHTON is a hamlet of Ufford, 2 miles north-east. The population in 1881 was 106.

UPTON (near Northampton) is a parish 2 miles west from Northampton, on the road to Daventry, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Nobottle Grove, union and county court district of Northampton, rural deanery and archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Michael is a small but ancient building of stone in the Norman and Early English styles, consisting of chancel and nave, south porch and an embattled western tower with pinnacles, and containing 2 bells. The register dates from the year 1598. The living is a rectory annexed to the rectory of St. Peter's, Northampton, tithe rent-charge £400, joint gross yearly value £483, in the gift of St. Katharine's Hospital, London, and held since 1873 by the Rev. Edward Nicolls Tom M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge. The Northamptonshire County Lunatic Asylum, Berry Wood, situated 3 miles from Northampton, on the road from Duston to Nobottle, was built in 1876, at a total cost, including site, of £150,000, and is a structure of red and coloured brick with bath stone dressings in the Italian style, from designs by Mr. Robert Griffiths, archifect, of Stafford, arranged in seven blocks, the centre block including a clock-tower 190 feet high, with clock and four dials, and containing a water tank which supplies the whole building with water: attached to the asylum is a church, built of stone, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a turret containing 1 bell: it has sittings for 400 persons: connected with the asylum are various workshops, gas works and extensive farm buildings: in 1834 the building was enlarged, at a cost of £4,500, and will now hold 750 patients: the dining hall, 75 by 45 feet, can be used for entertainments, and has a raised stage and scenery for dramatic performances, and at the north end is a strangers' gallery, and for these purposes the hall will seat 500 persons: the day rooms for patients are large, airy and well furnished, and well supplied with books; there are also pianos in the women's and billiard tables in the men's wards: the total number of patients on the 31st December, 1884, was 673, of whom 491 belonged to the county. Upton Hall, the seat of George Turner esq. is an ancient building, the original portion of which is of stone; the front was rebuilt of brick with stone facings and a wing added about the year 1600; the interior contains some valuable paintings; George Turner esq. is lord of the manor and the principal landowner. The soil is loam; subsoil, clay. The chief crops are wheat, barley and grass. The area is 979 acres; rateable value, £2,412; the population in 1881 was 720, including 642 officers and inmates in the asylum.

UPTON (near Peterborough), a chapelry in Castor parish, formed into an ecclesiastical parish in 1851, 7 miles north-west from Peterborough and 1½ north-east from Wansford Road station, in the Northern division of the county, liberty, union and county court district of Peterborough, rural deanery of Peterborough first, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. John the Baptist, formerly a chapel of ease to Castor, is an ancient building of stone in the Norman and Decorated styles, consisting of chancel, nave of two bays, north aisle or Dove chapel and a gable bell-cote containing 1 bell: the piers, a portion of the chancel arch and the piers of the arcade are very late Norman work: the porch separating the chapel from the nave and several other details are of classical design and forms three gables: in the chapel is a noble canopied monument of the Roman Ionic order with a large altar tomb, on which are the recumbent effigies of Sir William Dove knight, ob. 1633, son of Bishop Dove, and his wives Frances (Downhall), 1622 and Dorothy, widow of Arthur Brooke esq. and daughter of Sir Thomas Smith, alias Nevill; she died in 1665; the monument is said to have been the work of Nicholas Stone; the knight is represented in plate armour with trunk hose and ruff; the effigies are richly executed and in excellent preservation: there are numerous other mural tablets and ledgers in the chancel and chapel of later date to the same family, who were formerly lords of the manor: the edifice was re-pewed in 1842 by the then Bishop of Peterborough, and the chancel was rebuilt by the parishioners; in 1863 it had an entirely new roof and was otherwise considerably renovated. The register dates from the year 1770. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value from tithe rent-charge £230, net £225, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough and held since 1877 by the Rev. Thomas Gues' Forrest B.A. of St. Peter's College, Cambridge, who resides at Wansford. In an orchard between the church and manor house is a massive stone pedestal which once bore a sundial. The Manor House, now a farm-house, was once the residence of Thomas Dove, chaplain in ordinary to Queen Elizabeth, who termed him her Silver Dove, and recommended him for election to the Bishopric of Peterborough, which he held from 1600 to 1630: a singular subterranean passage, the walls of which are lined with stone, has recently (1885) been discovered under the house. The trustees of the late Hon. George Wentworth-Fitzwilliam are lords of the manor and own all the land excepting 10 acres of glebe. The soil is varied; subsoil, strong clay. The chief crops are wheat, barley, beans and peas. The area is 1,180 acres; rateable value, £1,554; the population in 1881 was 72.

stone in mixed styles, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, north and south porches, vestry, and an embattled western tower with pinnacles, containing 4 bells and clock: there are piscines in the chancel and south aisle: the east and west windows are memorials to the Rev. T. Scott M.A. 45 years rector of this parish: In the church is a brass, with effigies, formerly in Bittlesden Abbey, Bucks, to Sir Thomas

Billing kt. Chief Justice of the King's Bench in the time of Edward IV. 1487; and Katherine his wife, 1479; the judge is represented as in his robes, and his wife wears the wired head-dress; the figures of nine children, as well as four shields, are lost: the slab was otherwise covered with scrolls bearing the words "IHU MEXVI," but of these only a few remain: on another slab is a fragment of the brass effigy of an armed knight with a single inscribed scroll and dating from the latter half of the fifteenth century: in the south aisle is a slab with the effigies in brass, of a knight and his lady, probably of the same date: the former is in plate armour over a shirt of chain mail, and the latter wears the pedimental head-dress: in the same aisle, also on a slab, are two effigies, with an inscription to Thomas Lovett and Elizabeth his wife: the date, partially effaced, is of the sixteenth century: there is also here a slab with effigy and inscription to Constance (Vere) wife of Henry Butler esq. she died, 16th May, 1499; and an inscribed brass from which the effigy has been lost, to Thomas Lovett, late of Astwell esq. 1586; Elizabeth his wife and Jane their daughter, wife of John Shirley esq. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1686; marriages, 1688; burials, 1678. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £13, gross yearly value £431, including 315 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough, and held since 1882 by the Rev. Lewis Henry de Fontaine, of St. Ives. Here is a small Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1860. The charity estate consists of 15 acres of land left 27th May, 1646, by Mrs. Jane Leeson, of Abthorpe, the rent of which now [1885] amounting to £20 yearly, together with 30s. is distributed amongst the poor annually. The rent of 32 acres producing £45 yearly, in this parish is applied for the benefit of the poor of the parish of Culworth; there is a forest allotment of 3a. 2R. awarded in 1826; the rent, £2 10s., is for the poor. Robert Loder esq. M.P., J.P. of Whittlebury, is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are Fleetwood Fellow Wilson esq. of 30 Portman Square w.; Charles Fairbrother, James Gurney Carruthers Carruthers and Charles Ridgway and James Dover esqrs. The soil is various; subsoil, clay. The chief crops are wheat, beans and oats, with an equal extent of land in pasture. The total area is 2,980 acres; rateable value, £2,730; and the population (exclusive of the hamlets of Astwell and Falcott) in 1881 was 464.

ASTWELL AND FALCOTT are small hamlets in the union and county court district of Brackley. Astwell is a mile and a half south-by-west and consists of a few farm-houses. Selina Countess of Huntingdon, founder of the sect bearing her name, was born at Astwell House on the 13th August, 1707; she established 64 chapels, for the support of which she devised the bulk of her fortune to trustees. Rateable value, £1,555 os. 2d. Falcott is 2½ miles south-west from the village of Wappenham and 1 mile south from Helmdon station. The population in 1881 was 62, including Astwell.

CHIPPING WARDEN (formerly a market town), is a village and parish, 3 miles south-by-west from Ityleid station on the East and West Junction railway, 4½ miles north-north-by-east from Cropredy station on the Great Western railway from Oxford to Birmingham, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of its name, union and county court district of Banbury, rural deanery of Brackley first, archdeaconry of Northampton and diocese of Peterborough, pleasantly situated on the road from Banbury to Daventry, 6½ miles north-north-east from the former and 10 south-west from the latter place. The church of SS. Peter and Paul is a large and handsome edifice of stone in the Decorated style, consisting of chancel, with chapel on the south side, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower with pinnacles, containing a clock and 5 bells. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1599; marriages, 1580; burials, 1579. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £34; net yearly value £225, including 112 acres of glebe with residence, in the gift of Lord North, and held since 1876 by the Rev. Robert Tomkinson, of St. Bees. There is a Wesleyan chapel here. There is an estate of 25 acres, left in 1466 by William Smart, priest, and now producing about £70 yearly, partly distributed in clothing and fuel, and otherwise applied to the repairs of the bells of the parish church and of the roads leading to the church. Black Grounds, near this village, is the site of the Roman station Brinaria and comprises about 40 acres; several Roman coins and other antiquities have been discovered near this spot. On the village green are the remains of a cross. The principal landowners are Lord North, who is lord of the manor, and Richard Aubrey Cartwright esq. D.L., J.P. of Edgote House, Banbury and the rector. The soil is red loam; subsoil, various. The chief crops are wheat, barley and beans. The area is 1,987 acres; rateable value, £3,650; the population in 1881 was 396.

WARKWORTH, with the Hamlets of OLD and NEW GRIMSBURY, HUSCOTE, NETHERCOTE and OVERTHORPE.

WARKWORTH is a village and parish in the Southern division of the county, hundred of King's Sutton, union and county court district of Banbury, rural deanery of Brackley (third portion), archdeaconry of Northampton and diocese of Peterborough; the village is 2 miles east from Banbury. The river Cherwell separates this parish from Banbury, in Oxfordshire. The church of the Blessed Virgin is an ancient edifice of stone in the Decorated style, consisting of chancel, nave, north aisle, south aisle or chapel, with porch attached and an embattled western tower with turret; it was restored in 1869; the south aisle retains a piscina with shelf; at the west end of the chapel is a monument of white and grey marble, inscribed to William Holman esq. but without date and there are others to this family: there are brasses with effigies to Sir John Chetwode knt. lord of the manor, ob. 1412, with inscription in French, to Amabilia his wife, and afterwards wife of Sir Thomas Strange, ob. 1430, with inscription in French and Latin: John Chetwode, son of the preceding, ob. 1420, with similar inscription, and Margaret, daughter of Sir John Chetwode, and wife of John Brounyng esq. who died at Melbury, ob. 1420: there is another brass to William Ludsthorp, 1454; in the church is a high and narrow altar tomb, with the recumbent effigy of a knight in the costume of the middle of the fourteenth century, representing Sir John de Lyons knt. who was living in 1346; the north and south sides of the tomb are panelled, and decorated with figures and pendent shields, and at the west end is a kneeling figure under a canopied arch: within separate arches in the north wall of the north aisle are two very low tombs, one of which supports the figure of an armed knight, exceedingly well sculptured, in the costume of the early fourteenth century, representing Sir John de Lyons knt. ob. 1312; on the other tomb is the recumbent effigy of Margaret (Oakley) his wife, who was living in 1323; the stained east window is a memorial to Miss Mary Ann Horton, lady of the manor, who died 19th July, 1869; and there are a number of other stained windows: the chancel was rebuilt and the nave and aisles thoroughly restored in 1869, at a cost of about £3,000, under the direction of the late Mr. Driver; a new reredos and chancel fittings were also introduced; an organ chamber and vestry added on the north side of the chancel, and a carved oak pulpit and reading desk erected. The register is included in that of Marston St. Lawrence, which dates from the years 1663 & 1664. The living is a rectory annexed to the vicarage of Marston St. Lawrence, joint gross yearly value £570, in the gift of John Alexander Blencowe esq. and held since 1876 by the Rev. Charles Edward Blencowe M.A. of Wadham College, Oxford. The Horton charity of £500 was founded in 1869 by Mary Ann Horton of Middleton Cheney, and is derived from money invested in £3 per Cent Consols; the interest is expended in bread, fuel and blankets. Warkworth Castle was for many generations occupied by the Holman and Eyre families, who had a Catholic chapel within its walls until the end of the last century, when the castle was pulled down. John Gother, a well-known Catholic writer of great eminence in the seventeenth century, and Allan Butler another learned Catholic divine, and author of the "Lives of the Saints," were succesively chaplains here, and Dr. Challoner, vicar apostolic and titular Catholic bishop of Doverus [1721], went from here to the Old Donay College. The principal landowners are John Henry Horton esq. of the Holt, Middleton Cheney, who is the lord of the manor, the Forbes family, Mr. William Golly, the Banbury Board of Health, the Trustees of S. Gist esq., Edward Lamley Fisher esq., the Rev. W. E. Buckley M.A. rector of Middleton Cheney, and Mr. John Jones. The soil is various. The chief crops are wheat, barley and beans. The area is 2,441A. OR. 38P.; rateable value, £14,258; the population in 1881, including the hamlets, was 2,467. Warkworth has a population of 55.

HUSCOTE, 1½ miles north-west, is a small hamlet in the parishes of Chacom and Warkworth, lying near to Grimsbury.

Old and New Grimsbury are hamlets in the parish of Warkworth, included in the parliamentary borough of Banbury and ecclesiastically annexed with Nethercote to South Banbury; New Grimsbury has arisen since 1850, and now contains the major part of the inhabitants of the parish; these hamlets are distant a mile and a half from Warkworth and extend along the valley to the bridge over the Cherwell at Banbury. The Banbury stations of the Great Western and London and North Western railways, and the works of the Banbury Gas and Water Companies are within these hamlets. The Banbury Sewage Farm is situated in this parish. There are a Wesleyan chapel and schools. The population in 1881 was 2,354.

NETHERCOTE is another small hamlet in the parish of Warkworth, one mile north-west. Population, 53.

OVERTHORPE is a hamlet of Middleton Cheney, with which the population and area are given, but it is locally in the parish of Warkworth, a little to the north-west of the latter village; the names are given there. WALL BOX, cleared at 8.40 a.m. and 4.20 p.m.

WARMINGTON is a parish near the river Nene, 3½ miles north-east from Oundle, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Polebrook, union and county court district of Oundle, rural deanery of Oundle (first portion), archdeaconry of Oakham and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Mary the Virgin is a fine building of stone, in the Early English style, with later additions and insertions, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, north and south porches and a western tower, with spire, containing 5 bells; the western entrance and porches are finely carved and are groined; the clerestory is Early Decorated, and the nave has a groined wood roof of the same period; the stairs to the roof loft, added in the Perpendicular period, remain; some portions of screen work also exist and several niches, two pinnies and brackets; the chancel window is stained, and there are several ancient tombs, two of which are probably those of the founders, but those in best preservation are one to Sir Robert Kirkham, probably of the reign of Henry VIII., and another in black marble to Thomas Elmes de Lilford: the church was thoroughly restored in 1876, at a cost of nearly £7,000; the nave under the direction of the late Sir G. G. Scott B.A. and the chancel by Mr. Benjamin Ferrey; in 1882 a clock, with western dial was placed in the tower at a cost of £80, raised by subscriptions. The register dates from the year 1558. The living is a discharged vicarage, tithe rent-charge, £25; net yearly value, £145, with 44 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Earl of Westmorland D.L., J.P. and held since 1880 by the Rev. Charles James Rowland Berkeley. Here is a Wesleyan Methodist chapel, built in 1881. Here are three almshouses for aged widows, built and endowed in 1860 by the Ladies Fanny and Charlotte Proby, of Elton Hall, Hunts. The poor's money of £3 8s. yearly is derived from £113 Consols. The Earl of Carysfort D.L., J.P. who is lord of the manor, the Rev. F. Hopkins, lay impropricator, and the trustees of the late Hon. George Wentworth Fitzwilliam are the principal landowners. The soil is clayey; subsoil, clay and gravel. The chief crops are hay, barley and wheat. The area is 3,720a. 3R. 14P.;

rateable value, £5,639; the population in 1881 with the hamlet of Papley was 685.

WEEDON BECK (or WEEDON-ON-THE-STREET, but commonly WEEDON) is a scattered village and parish 5 miles south-east from Daventry and 8 west from Northampton, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Fawsley, union and county court district of Daventry, rural deanery of Weedon, archdeaconry of Northampton and diocese of Peterborough. The Watling Street, Grand Junction canal and the London and North Western railway pass through the village, the latter having the Weedon station here, distant 60½ from London and 42½ from Birmingham. The river Nene flows through the village. The church of St. Peter is a spacious edifice of stone in the Norman, Early English, and later styles, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, porch and a western tower containing 5 bells: in 1878 an organ chamber was built at a cost of about £250 and a new organ erected at a cost of £400, the church being at the same time re-seated with open benches: the body of the church was rebuilt in 1825, and the chancel rebuilt and refitted in 1863, as a memorial to the Rev. George Watson, a former vicar: on a tombstone in the churchyard is the following curious inscription:—

Here lyth y body of Alice Old, widow, who lived in y reign of Queen Elizabeth, in y reign of King James y 1st, in y reign of King Charles y 1st & King Charles y 2nd & King James y 2nd & deceased y Second Day of Jan'y y 3rd year of y reign of King William and Queen Mary, 1691." The register dates from the year 1587. The living is a vicarage, tithe-rent charge, £5; net yearly value £177, including 110 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Thomas William Thornton esq. J.P. of Brookhall, and held since 1883 by the Rev. George Powell Irbys M.A. of Merton College, Oxford. Here is a Catholic chapel dedicated to Our Lady of Victories which is served from Daventry; there are also Congregational and Wesleyan chapels. The charities include the dividends of £76 Old South Sea Annuities, left in 1736 by the Rev. John Rogers, alternately for the use of the Free School and the poor of the parish; the interest of £50, left by Thomas Judkins, in 1710, to the poor of the parish; the interest of £50, bequeathed by George Bliss in 1780, to the poor shoemakers of the parish for ever; the interest of £50, which was left by John Freeman and invested in £80 Three per Cent. Consols, to be distributed to the oldest poor persons who attend at church regularly; the poor's land, consisting of about 3 acres, allotted in lieu of a right of cutting furze, which lets for about £13 yearly; and the church land, 3 acres, lets for about £11 yearly, applied by the churchwardens for the repairs of the church. Here are barracks capable of holding two batteries of artillery and two companies of infantry, with a good parade ground and several acres for manœuvring the batteries; there is likewise a small garrison hospital; the Royal pavilion, now used as officers' quarters, was erected for George III. when the invasion of England was threatened by Napoleon I.; there are also very large Government powder magazines and stores. The situation is very healthy, elevated and pleasant, overlooking part of the Vale of Nene and a rich agricultural district. The county police have a station here. The Provost and fellows of Eton College, who are lords of the manor, Thomas William Thornton esq. J. P. W. Allin, E. Kirby and R. Hewitt esqs. are the principal landowners. The soil is loamy; subsoil, gravel. The area is 1817 acres, nearly equally divided between arable and pasture; rateable value, £8,734; the population in 1881 was 1,957, including 476 in the military barracks and small arms department.

stone, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch, and a low embattled central tower with pinnacles and containing 4 bells: the east window is stained and in the chancel is a memorial window, placed by his widow, to the Rev. S. Smith M.A. vicar here for 35 years. The register dates from the year 1559. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value about £550 with residence, in the gift of the Provost and fellows of King's College, Cambridge, and held since 1867 by the Rev. Thomas Lewis Soley M.A. late fellow of that college. The charity land called Weston Wild is situated at Weston: when the parish was enclosed in 1773, this land was allotted to the poor in lieu of their right of grazing and cutting furze, and the management of it for their benefit was placed in the hands of the vicar for the time being as perpetual and irremovable trustee, together with other trustees, the churchwarden and overseers, who are annual and removable: up to about the year 1860 it had produced about £15 yearly, when at the instance of the late Rev. S. Smith it was enclosed and drained, funds being borrowed for that purpose; it is now let out in allotments to the poor of the parish and produces a rent of £27 a year, which is distributed to the poor at Christmas in coals; the borrowed fund has been repaid. Mrs. Jane Leeson, of Abethorpe, devised in the year 1646 the yearly sum of £1 to be distributed to the poor. Here is a reading-room, maintained partly by Lady Hamner and partly by subscription. The Warden and fellows of All Souls College, Oxford, who are lords of the manor, Major Sir Wyndham Edward Hamner bart. in right of his wife, the vicar, Mr. John Aris and others are the landowners. The soil is various, principally clay. The chief crops are wheat and beans. The parish consists of about equal portions of arable and pasture. The area is 2,286 acres, including its hamlets; rateable value, £3,020 2s. 3d.: and the population in 1881 was 451.

WEEKLEY is a parish and village 2 miles north-east from Kettering, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Corby, union and county court district of Kettering, rural deanery of Weedon (second portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough, situated on the road from Kettering to Stamford and bounded on the east by the river Ise. The church of St. Mary is a building of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a western tower with spire, containing 5 bells: the church was restored in 1873: in the church there is an altar tomb with recumbent effigy in robes to Sir Edward Montagu, a native of Brigstock in this county, and chief justice of the King's Bench, who died Feb. 10th, 1556. The register of marriages and burials dates from the year 1550; baptisms, 1571. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £150 with residence, in the gift of the Duke of Buccleuch K.T. and held since 1871 by the Rev. Henry Howard Ninmo Howard M.B. of Clare College, Cambridge. The Montagu Hospital was endowed in 1611, by Sir Edward Montagu knt. son of the chief justice, with 100 acres, now of the yearly value of £120, for the benefit of seven poor men, each of whom receives 5s. weekly. Boughton House, one of the seats of the Duke of Buccleuch K.T. stands in a lordly park, and was the old seat of the Montagus; it is a typical mansion of the time of Queen Anne, which came into possession of the Dukes of Buccleuch by marriage with the last of the Montagus: the house is quadrangular and of vast size, and is surrounded on all sides by divergent lines of magnificent elms, which afford shade for a large herd of deer: the main body of the house was built by Ralph, first Duke of Montagu and ambassador extraordinary at the court of France, and was designed on a given plan: the four wings, which face the four quarters of heaven, represent the four quarters of the year: there are 365 windows to represent the days of the year, 52 chimneys and 7 entrances which represent the weeks of the year and the days of the week: in the hall hang pictures of the bygone Montagus, including the famous Lord Chief Justice mentioned above, who was one of the executors to the will of King Henry VIII.: in the dining room is a portrait of John and Duke of Montagu, known as "John the Planter," who and two miles north-west of Moreton Pinkney station. There is a Baptist chapel erected in 1779. Weston House, the residence of Major Sir Wyndham Edward Hamner is an ancient building of stone, the south front of which was erected in 1647; it stands in well-planted grounds of about 6½ acres. The Manor House, occupied by Mr. Joseph Hinton, is also a stone building, erected in 1588.

built the wings and gave the house the quaint significance to the days of the year: there are several portraits by Vandyke and Dobson, and others by Dutch artists, besides a singular portrait of Edward VI., to whom Lord Chief Justice Montagu was Councillor: the furniture, except in a few rooms kept for the occasional use of the Buccleuch family when they visit the neighbourhood, has not been renovated since the death of the Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch in 1827, who was the last of the Montagus. The great art treasures of the house are two cartoons said to be by Raphael, and given by Charles II. to the Duke of Beaufort, with a series of tapestries from the cartoons now at South Kensington; the best art critics, however, regard the compositions as patterns only, executed by Netherland artists for tapestry manufactories; there are, at the same time, two sets of tapestry from the well-known Raphael cartoons, and the house is peculiarly rich in tapestry. "John the Planter," who married a daughter of the great Duke of Marlborough, held the office of master forester and keeper of Rockingham forest under George I. From the terraces, immediately facing each front of the house, stretch out the long avenues, of which no less than 70 miles were planted by Duke John, reaching in two instances, to Kirby and Deane Park, eight miles distant. The Duke of Buccleuch is lord of the manor and sole landowner. The soil is a mixture of clay, sand and limestone; subsoil, clayey and gravel. The crops are wheat, barley, oats &c. The area is 1,540 acres; rateable value, £2,910; the population in 1881 was 270.

GREAT and LITTLE WELDON.

GREAT WELDON, with the hamlet of LITTLE WELDON, is a parish 8 miles west-north-west from Oundle, with a station 2½ miles west from the village called Weldon and Corby station on the Midland railway; in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Corby, Oundle union and county court district, rural deanery of Weldon first, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough, on the road from Stamford to Kettering. The church of St. Mary is a building of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch and a western tower with pinnacles containing 6 bells; the east window is stained and in the south aisle is a memorial window, erected by the parishioners, to the Rev. Daniel Henage Finch-Hatton, late rector, who died Jan. 3, 1866. The register dates from the year 1594. The living is a rectory; gross yearly value from 41½ acres of glebe £425, net £210 with residence, in the gift of the Earl of Winchelsea, and held since 1864 by the Rev. William Robert Finch-Hatton B.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. Here is a Congregational Chapel, built in 1806. There are several charities of £35 yearly value for food and clothing. This place has a charter for a market, now fallen into disuse, and the market house has been pulled down; it has likewise charters for four fairs, in February, May, July and November, one only of which is now held, viz. on the Thursday following the second Sunday in July. The village round-house is still standing. In an enclosure called "Chapel Fields," the pavement of a Roman villa, forming a double square, 100 by 50 feet, and a great number of coins of the Lower Empire, besides some of Constantine, Constant and Magnentius, were discovered in 1738. Higher up the hill are the remains of an ancient town. The Earl of Winchelsea is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is clayey; subsoil, clay and rock. The chief crops are hay, wheat, barley and beans. The area of Great Weldon is 2,451 a. or 358 and the rateable value £2,205, and of Little Weldon, 1,272 acres; rateable value, £2,137; the population in 1981 was 746, of which 454 were in Little Weldon.

WELFORD is a large village and parish on the high road from Northampton to Leicester, situated on the river Avon, which here separates Northamptonshire from Leicestershire, 14 miles north-west from Northampton, 8 south-west from Market Harborough, 8 south-east from Lutterworth, 12 north-east from Rugby and 80 from London, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Guilsborough, union and county court district of Lutterworth, rural deanery of Haddon (first portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The Rugby and Stamford branch of the London and North Western railway has a station (called the Welford and Kilworth station), about 3 miles north-west from the village, in the parish of Kilworth, Leicester. There is a branch of the Grand Union canal at the lower part of the village, but in the county of Leicester. The village is supplied with water from springs. The church of St. Mary the Virgin is a building of stone, in the Early English and Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, north and south chantry chapels, south porch and a lofty western embattled tower containing a clock and 5 bells; it was thoroughly restored in 1872, at a cost of about £3,000, as a memorial to the late

Lieut.-Col. the Hon. F. W. C. Villiers, of Sulby hall, by the parishioners and his friends, when the western gallery was removed, the north aisle rebuilt, a south porch added and the church re-seated with open oak benches; there are several memorial windows, a few tablets and an ancient marble monument with a brass to Francis Saunders, 1585, his three wives and nine children. The register, including Sulby, dates from the year 1562. The living is a discharged vicarage, tithe rent-charge £162, gross yearly value £345, including 80 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough, and held since 1876 by the Rev. Thomas Gifford Galloway M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge. The Congregational chapel was built in 1793 and seats about 500 persons. A Sunday school was built in connection with it in 1867, at a cost of £400, and is used as a lecture-room and for a variety of other purposes and attached to the chapel is a library of about 800 volumes, which is open to the public on payment of 1s. per quarter. There is also a village reading-room, with a library of 1,000 volumes, formed by the late Lieut.-Col. the Hon. F. W. C. Villiers; the reading-room is well supplied with the London daily and the local papers. There are 30 acres of land let in allotments, the rent of which is distributed to the poor on St. Thomas' day; and also about 20 acres of land in the lordship of Welford, vested in trustees for the benefit of the poor; Spencer and Whitechurch's charities, amounting together to £7 8s. 10d. yearly, derived from money in the funds, are for fuel and clothing. In this parish are situated the Hemplow Hills, on the summit of which stands Hemplow hall, the property of and occupied by Charles Henry Simpson esq. of Ackworth hall, Wakefield. From these hills beautiful and very extensive views are obtained of the surrounding district of Northampton, Leicestershire and Warwickshire. The Earl of Northampton of Somerley, Ringwood, Hants, who is lord of the manor, the trustees of the late Mr. Gee, C. H. Simpson esq. and the trustees of the late Thomas Orton esq. are the principal landowners. The land is arable and pasture. The soil is mixed, with good gravel and clay; subsoil, gravel and clay. The chief crops are wheat, barley and oats. The area is 3,656 acres; rateable value, £6,487; and the population in 1881 was 922.

WELLINGBOROUGH.

WELLINGBOROUGH is a market and union town and head of a county court district, pleasantly situated on the declivity of a hill near the junction of the Ise with the river Nen or Nene, 65½ miles from London per Midland railway, 34 south-east from Leicester, 46 north-east from Buckingham, 35½ west from Huntingdon, 10½ north-east from Northampton, 15½ north-west from Bedford and 7 south from Kettering; it is a polling place for and in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Hamfordslow, rural deanery of Rothwell (first portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough.

The Health of Towns Act was applied to this place in the year 1855, and great improvement has been made in the sanitary regulations of the town; the board consists of 9 members. The interior of what may be called the old town has undergone a great change; dilapidated structures have given way to new ones, and large portions of land outside the town have been built upon. The streets are well paved and lighted with gas; and a promenade on the east side of the high road, planted with lime trees, extends from the town to the North Western railway station.

There are two lines of railway, each having a station, the London and North Western (Northampton and Peterborough branch), one mile south of the town (locally in Irechester) and the Midland Railway Company's station, about one mile east, which afford communication with all parts of the country.

The church of St. Luke, situated nearly on the centre of the town, is an ancient, lofty and spacious edifice of stone, in the Norman, Early English and later styles, consisting of chancel of four bays, with aisles, clerestoried nave of four bays with aisles, south chapel, north and south porches and a western tower with spire containing a clock and 8 bells; the inner doorway of the south porch is Norman; the tower with double belfry windows under the broach, from whence the spire springs, is decorated; the rest of the fabric is Perpendicular; the aisles are divided from the chancel by a fine Perpendicular oak screen; the roof of the south chapel displays some elaborate paintings, symbolic of the Four Evangelists and the instruments of the Passion; the organ was erected in 1877, at a cost, with alterations for its reception, of £800; the stained east window of five lights, erected in 1871, is a memorial to the late Canon Broughton, thirty years vicar here; there is also a stained window in the end of the east aisle, given by Mr. Gill, of Tiverton; in 1861 the church was seated with open benches to hold 1,000 persons; there are several mural tablets, one of which over the south entrance dates from 1570. The registers date from 1586. The living is a vicarage, tithes rent-charge £40, gross yearly value £700, including 254 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the late Major Quintus Vivian, and held since 1871 by the Ven. Reginald Frieaux Lightfoot M.A. of Balliol College, Oxon, archdeacon of Oakham, and surrogate. The church land, with money invested in the Funds, produces £130 yearly.

All Saints is an ecclesiastical parish, formed from the old parish of St. Luke, Wellingborough, in November, 1872; the church, consecrated in May, 1868, and situated on the Midland road, is a lofty edifice of Finedon and Bath stone, the exterior being of limestone with Finedon stone dressings, in the Early Decorated style, built at a cost of £4,500, raised by subscription, on a site given by the Rev. F.

Custance and family; the church consists of apsidal chancel, nave with clerestory, aisles, south porch and a turret over the east end of the nave, containing 1 bell: there are 600 sittings, all of which are free. The register dates from the year 1872. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly income from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners £220, in the gift of the vicar of Wellingborough, and held since 1872 by the Rev. Frederic William Willis M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Oxon: the vicarage house was erected in 1874, partly by subscription and partly by a grant from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

The church of St. Barnabas, situated at the west-end of the town, is an iron structure, built in 1873 as a chapel of ease to the parish church of St. Luke; the Rev. Lloyd Timothy Jones M.A. of Lincoln College, Oxford, is curate in charge.

The Congregational church, situated in the High street, and built in 1875, at a cost of £12,000 (including site, organ and fittings), is a spacious building of brown Duston stone with Bath stone dressings and red Mansfield shafts; the structure is oval in plan, and has a gallery seating 500; the general area has sittings for 700.

The Catholic church, dedicated to "Our Lady of the Sacred Heart," situated in Ranelagh road, is an iron structure; but a suitable site has been purchased opposite, where a permanent stone church will eventually be erected: the Rev. Bernard Murray is the priest.

The Society of Friends have a meeting house in St. John's street, erected in 1819, and seating 200 persons. There is a burial ground attached.

The Baptist church was erected in 1863, at a cost of £2,000 and there is a pastor's house built subsequently. The Wesleyan chapel in Park street was built in 1872. There are also Congregational, Wesleyan Reform and Primitive Methodist churches.

A Burial Board of 6 members was formed here in 1857; the cemetery situated on the London road consists of six acres of land, purchased at a cost of £1,642, and opened for interment in March, 1858; there are two mortuary chapels.

The Wellingborough Grammar schools, formerly called the Grammar School and Lower Free school and now the Second and Third Grade schools, both giving a good sound commercial education, were founded in 1594 and endowed with the revenues of a suppressed guild, since increased by benefactions from sundry individuals; the income which supports the two schools is now (1885) about £1,500 yearly, derived from land and Government stock and three-eighths of the net proceeds of Fisher's charity: the trust was reconstituted by the Charity Commissioners under a scheme approved by Her Majesty in Council in February, 1876: boys are admitted from the age of 8 and may remain till they are 17 in the Second Grade school, and in the Third Grade school from the age of 7 to 15, the governors have power to create exhibitions by granting exemptions from the payment of tuition fees, and the holders of such exhibitions are styled Foundation scholars; the governors have also power to establish exhibitions tenable at any higher place of education approved by them: the governing body consists of twelve persons, of whom six are co-optative governors and six representative, the latter holding office for five years only. The Second Grade School, situated on the London road, is a building of red brick with Bath stone dressings, in the English Renaissance style, and was erected in 1880, at a cost of £6,000. The Third Grade school, a rectangular Elizabethan building, erected in 1595, situated on the north side of the churchyard, is constructed chiefly of ironstone and is in a good state of repair.

Freeman's (Church of England) schools, in Oxford street, occupy a site given in 1711 by John Freeman: in the same year Richard Fisher devised certain lands, which now produce about £200 a year net, half the proceeds of which belong to these schools, three-eighths going to the governors of the grammar schools and one-eighth being divided between two decayed tradesmen of the town.

The Corn Exchange, built in 1861, at a cost of £4,000, raised by shares, occupies a prominent position in the Market square; and is a building of red and white brick with Bath stone dressings; it comprises a large hall, capable of seating 700, in which the corn market, the county court, musical entertainments and public meetings are held; the south front of the building has a clock tower surmounted by a cupola and containing an illuminated clock; the Literary and Scientific Institute has also a spacious and comfortable reading and news room here well supplied with newspapers and periodicals and a library of between 3,000 and 4,000 volumes; there is also a chess club with about 50 members; there are now (1885) about 350 members, and the income is from £100 to £200 yearly.

The Market for sheep and oxen was constructed in 1875, on a site purchased in 1874, with the houses standing thereon by the Local Board, for a sum of £9,000. The market is held every Wednesday.

Fairs are held in the Market square on Wednesday in Easter week, Wednesday in Whitsun week and October the 29th for cattle and pleasure.

The Conservative club, situated in High street, is a building of red brick, with Bath stone dressings in the English Renaissance style, erected 1882, at a cost of £2,600.

The Wellingborough Working Men's Club was established in September, 1875, and has now (1885) about 350 members.

The County Police Station, situated on the Midland road, and built in 1867, is a building of red brick with Bath stone dressings and consists of petty sessions room, with retiring room for the magistrates, waiting and other rooms, a separate room for witnesses and five cells; on the west side of the building is the inspector's house, on the east side quarters for a married constable and over the cells are dormitories for single constables.

A Volunteer Rifle Corps (I and K companies of the 1st Northamptonshire R.V.) was established here in 1859; the muster roll for the year 1885 shows a total of 190 men, of whom 185 are efficient. The drill-hall and armoury, converted from a Methodist chapel, are in Church street; the second company was formed in 1877.

There are charities of upwards of £1,000 yearly value, derived from houses and land in the town of Wellingborough, land at Barton (two estates), land at East Farndon; the Orlebar charity of £20 yearly, distributed in blankets; and Mrs. Glassbrook's endowment of £6 yearly for bread.

The air is healthy and the water, particularly good; the red well and other chalybeate springs were once of great note, and the former was visited by Charles I. and his queen in the year 1626, in order to drink of its waters.

The water works, situated at the north end of the town, occupy one acre of land, purchased in 1871 by the Local Board of Health, at a cost of £500, the water is pumped into a reservoir on the Hardwick road, and thence the whole of the town is supplied; in 1877 the works were considerably enlarged, at a cost of £5,000.

One newspaper is published here, viz. "The Wellingborough and Kettering News."

For the last quarter of a century or more the history of this town has been one of unusual progress; and the population has increased from 9,385 in 1871 to 13,794 at the last census. The town is situated in the midst of an exceptionally fertile agricultural district, and the staple industry, the leather trade, has within the above-mentioned period been completely revolutionized by the introduction of the shoe upper trade under the management of Smith and Gibbs (now Brown and Sons), who were the first to send out uppers without bottoms; there are many spacious clicking factories devoted principally to the getting up of boot uppers for home and foreign consumption, while the machine shops where the uppers are closed (for the trade), employing from 20 hands down to five or six, are exceedingly numerous. The making of shoes has now become a secondary industry to the upper trade, although by the introduction of the Blake sewing and riveting machine many hundreds of pairs are manufactured every week; the old process of hand sewing being very little used. The principal firms engaged in the boot and shoe upper trade are those of Messrs. Brown and Sons, Messrs. Sharman and Ekins, Messrs. Watkin and Sons and Charles Freeman.

In 1854 a very important occupation was introduced here in the raising and smelting of iron ore, the beds of which are very extensive and easily worked, and the ore when mixed with other kinds produces iron of exceptionally good quality; large numbers of men are employed in this work, but the greater part of the ironstone raised is conveyed into Yorkshire, Staffordshire, Derbyshire and Wales, since it is found more remunerative to take the ore into the coal districts for smelting purposes than to fuse it on the spot.

There is still an immense amount of ironstone remaining unworked in the district around Wellingborough. Messrs. Butlin and Co. and Rixon and Co. Limited, are both large producers of pig iron; the firm of Joseph Williamson and Co. manufacture iron into various articles, chiefly railway chairs; Mr. Mather is also a leading manufacturer of portable steam engines &c. In 1868 the Midland Railway Company created a depot here for the conveyance of coal between the Erewash Valley and London, Wellingborough being distant one day's journey from either place; the Midland Company alone employs about 400 men here. There are also two breweries.

In 948 Ædred King of Mercia gave the church at Wellingborough with 700 acres of land to Croyland Abbey which donation was confirmed by King Edgar in 966; subsequently William the Conqueror recognized it by the grant of a charter; after the Conquest the whole township gradually came into the power of the monastery and in the ninth year of the reign of Edward II. the Abbot was lord in full. In the second year of the reign of King John the Abbot obtained for the townspeople the privilege of a market, to be held on Wednesdays. The Hall or Manor House of the abbots of Croyland, said to have been originally erected by Abbot Richard in 1281, was subsequently converted into a dwelling-house; part of the moat, supplied by adjacent springs, still remains; the tithe barn is also standing and forms one of the most interesting architectural features to be found in the town; another portion of the structure has been amalgamated with a new edifice at the back of the Hind hotel and forms part of the residence of E. Sharnan esq. architect.

Hatton Hall, situated on an eminence at the top of the town, is a gabled building of stone in the Tudor style, now occupied as a school by Mrs. Tetley.

George Ennis Vivian esq. is lord of the manor, and he, with C. J. K. Woolston esq. J.P.; the Ven. Archdeacon Lightfoot; D. Duley esq.; A. C. Keep esq.; and Mr. Currie, are the principal landowners. The area is 3,905 acres; rateable value, £44,398; the population in 1871 was 9,385, and in 1881, 13,794, including 154 officers and inmates in the workhouse.

Parish Clerk, St. Luke's, Samuel Mabbott.
Sexton, All Saints', George Tasker.

WELTON is a village and parish in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Fawsley, union and county court district of Daventry, rural deanery of Daventry, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, 2 miles north from Daventry, 12 north-west from Northampton, 2 south-west from the Welton station of the London and North Western railway and 75 from London. The Grand Junction canal is continued by a tunnel one mile and a half long to Braunston, where it joins the Oxford canal. The church of St. Martin is a building of stone in the Perpendicular style of the fifteenth century, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a western tower with pinnacles containing 5 bells: it was restored in 1866-7 and the chancel beautifully ornamented, the pinnacles and walls elegantly decorated and the floor laid with marbles and malachite: there are four stained windows and several monuments to the Clarke family. The registers begin with the year 1578, but are subsequently incomplete in some parts. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value about £200, including glebe 67a. 3r. in the gift of the Lord Chancellor, and held since 1846 by the Rev. Daniel Darnell M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels. John Winterton, late of Welton grange, left £200, the interest to be expended, one half in flannel

WERRINGTON is a village and parish separated in 1876 from that of Paston, about 3 miles north from Peterborough, adjoining the road from Peterborough to Market Deeping and near the Walton station and comprises the hamlet of WALTON, in the Northern division of the county, Nassabourgh or Peterborough liberty, Peterborough union and county court district, rural deanery of Peterborough (first portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of SS. Mary and John the Baptist is a very ancient structure, consisting of chancel, nave of three bays, aisles, south porch and a bell-cot placed over the chancel arch and containing 2 bells: the chancel arch and inner doorway of the south porch are Norman: the chancel itself Perpendicular and other portions Early English: the chancel retains a piscina and sedilia: the stone font, consisting of an octagonal basin, supported by eight low shafts, is Early English: the porch is decorated and the outer arch has the date 1668: the chancel arch, low, massive and narrow, is Norman, but stands within another and much larger arch of plain character, visible only from the chancel side: the nave and aisles have been recently restored, at a cost of £1,000: a pewter flagon, dated 1609, was discovered at the restoration. The separate register dates only from the year 1877; the earlier register is incorporated with that of Paston. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge £252, net yearly value £264, and the other in bread: there is an annual charity of £170, derived from town lands, for the school and the poor. Welton Place, the seat of Lieut.-Col. Richard Trevor Clarke D.L., J.P. is situated on an eminence overlooking a pleasant park of about 40 acres. Lieut.-Col. Clarke, who is lord of the manor, Alfred Seymour esq. J.P. of Norton hall, Daventry, Capt. William Senhouse J.P. of Ashby St. Ledgers, and the trustees of the late Rev. J. T. Hilbert-Smith are chief landowners. The soil is red loam; subsoil, clay. The crops are wheat, barley and oats. The area is 1,881 acres of good light soil, nearly equally divided between arable and pasture land; rateable value, £3,642 16s. 9d.; the population in 1881 was 489.

WESTON FAVELL is a parish in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Spelthoe, union and county court district of Northampton, rural deanery of Haddon (second portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, 2½ miles east-north-east of Northampton, on the road to Wellingborough; the river Nene bounds the parish on the south. The church of St. Peter is a building of stone in the Transition Norman and Later styles, consisting of chancel, nave, north aisle and a western tower with plain parapet and low pyramidal roof containing 5 bells and a clock; it formerly had a spire which was destroyed by lightning in 1726; the stained east window is a memorial to four members of the Knight family, 1834-75; the pulpit is of cinque-cento work, carved in oak, and there are choir stalls of the same on the north side of the chancel is a plain slab to the memory of the Rev. James Hervey M.A., the well-known author of "Meditations Among the Tombs," who held this rectory from 1752 to 1758, and is buried beneath the slab: in front of the chancel arch is a slab inscribed to Hervey and Elizabeth Ekins the founders of the Endowed School; there are other memorials to Mrs. Elizabeth Halford, 1769, and Thomas Greene, 1725; the needlework representing the Passover, executed by Jane (Fawtry) wife of Sir John Holman, in December, 1698, and formerly over the communion table, has been removed to the east wall of the vestry; the chancel was restored in 1851 by the late rector, and in 1869 the chancel arch was rebuilt and the south porch restored; in 1881 the church underwent a thorough repair, when the western gallery was removed, the floors relaid, the interior re-seated and refitted and an organ chamber built on the north side and separated from the aisle by a screen originally presented by Sir John Holman; the octagonal font was also restored, raised on a base, and provided with a cover; the work was carried out under the direction of Mr. M. H. Holding, architect, of Northampton, at a cost of £1,200. The register of baptisms and burials dates from the year 1540; marriages, 1545. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value from 104 acres of glebe £240 with residence, in the gift of the Rev. John Walker Knight M.A. vicar of Washington, Sussex, and held since 1875 by the Rev. James Phillips M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. The rectory house, situated a short distance from the church, was rebuilt and enlarged by the Rev. James Hervey in 1758. Here is a Wesleyan chapel. In the northern part of the parish is a field formerly called "Spelthoe," from which the hundred took its name, but now called "Stocking." Hervey and Elizabeth Ekins gave a house and land to support a school for 15 children in 1704; Thomas Green, in 1739, gave certain other lands in furtherance of this charity, with an apprentice fee of £20 for boys, altogether producing about £60 a year, £2 of which is distributed to the poor in bread on St. Andrew's day, when a sermon is preached by the rector, for which he receives 16s. By a scheme of the Charity Commissioners dated 22nd December, 1874, three-fifths of the income after deducting expenses are applied to the educational branch, and the remaining two-fifths for apprenticing and advancement. Holman's charity of £20 yearly, derived from 8 acres of land, is also for the poor, and is distributed in various sums of money on Good Friday; the rector also receives £1 for preaching a sermon and administering the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, on this day. The principal landowners are Wm. Oliver Harris and J.A. Shell Bourne esqrs. Mrs. Whitworth is lady of the manor. The principal crops are wheat, barley, oats and beans. The soil is marl and clay; subsoil, clay and stone. The area is 1,031 acres; rateable value, £2,690 18s.; the population in 1881 was 517.

The church of St. Mary was rebuilt in 1866, at the cost of the present vicar, in exact facsimile of the old church, and consists of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower containing a clock and 5 bells; the clock and two of the bells were added when the church was rebuilt, and there are several stained windows. The register included in that of Sutton Bassett dates from the year 1576. The living is a vicarage with that of Sutton Bassett annexed, joint gross yearly value £2300 with residence, in the gift of and held since 1862 by the Rev. Samuel Danby. Henry Vane Forester Holdich-Hungerford esq. D.L., J.P. of 154, North Andley street, London W. is lord of the manor. William Ward Taibay esq. M.A., J.P. of Skeffington hall, Leicester, John William Kead at and William Rowlatt are the principal landowners. The soil is clay and gravel; subsoil, clay and ironstone. The chief crops are wheat and hay. The area is 1,040 acres; rateable value, £2,553; the population in 1881 was 215.

WHILTON is a village and parish 4 miles north-east from Daventry, 9 north-west from Northampton, 3½ miles south-east from Welton and 4 north from Weedon stations on the London and North Western railway, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Nobottle Grove, union and county court district of Daventry, rural deanery of Haddon, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The London and North Western railway, the Grand Junction canal and the Roman Watling Street pass through the parish. The church of St. Andrew is a small building of stone, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower with pinnacles containing 6 bells and a clock; the two upper storeys of the tower, the aisles and part of the chancel were rebuilt about 1769 by William Rose esq. who also gave the 6 bells: in 1795 the church was new roofed and other improvements effected, at the cost of the Rev. William Lucas Rose, then rector: the church was restored in 1877 when a new chancel was built, a stained east window inserted, a reredos of mosaic work erected, and the body of the church re-seated under the direction of Mr. J. P. St. Aubyn, architect, of London, at a cost of £2,500; there is a mural tablet on the south-west wall to Richard Freeman esq. 1749. The register dates from the year 1570. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value £440, including 190 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of William Molyneux Rose esq. J.P. of Wolston Heath, Rugby, and held since 1856 by the Rev. Randolph Skipwith s.c.l. of Trinity College, Cambridge. There are charities of £12 yearly value for clothing 12 poor girls of this parish. John Clarke esq. is lord of the manor. William Smith esq. John A. Craven J.P., D.L. Messrs. Emery and the rector are the principal landowners. Whilton Lodge, the seat of John A. Craven esq. J.P., D.L. is a mansion of stone standing in a well-kept lawn and is beautifully situated in the centre of a good hunting country. The soil is chiefly a light sand and gravel; subsoil, stone and there are also traces of ironstone. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats and beans. The parish extends over an area of 1,270 acres, nearly equally divided between arable and pasture land; rateable value, £3,614; the population in 1881 was 354.

WHISTON is a small parish and village pleasantly situated near the river Nene, which divides this parish on the north from that of Earls Barton; it is in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Wymerley, union of Hardingstone, county court district of Northampton, rural deanery of Preston (first portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, 2½ miles east-by-south from Northampton and about 6½ south-west from Wellingborough and 1½ south-west from Castle Ashby and Earls Barton station on the Northampton and Peterborough branch of the London and North Western railway. The church of St. Mary the Virgin, seated on an eminence, is a building of stone in the Late Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave of four bays, aisles, south porch and a lofty embattled western tower with crocketed turrets at the angles and containing 5 bells: this church was founded in 1534 by Anthony Cateby, as is recorded on his monument in the chancel; he died in 1553; the five-light east window is a memorial to the third Lord Boston, who died 12 March, 1856; and the west window to the fourth Lord Boston, who died 3 Jan. 1877; in the chancel is a monument by Nollekens, to the Cateby family, dated 1553, and one to the first Lord Boston who died 30 March, 1775; on the north wall is a tablet by Nollekens, to the Hon. Mary Irby, 1792. The register dates from April, 1700, while the rectors can be traced back as far as 1277, before the present edifice was erected. The living is a rectory, to which a portion of the rectory of Dinton is annexed, title rent-charge £250, gross yearly value £286, including 5 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Lord Boston, and held since 1851 by the Rev. the Hon. Llewellyn Charles Robert Irby M.A. of Brasenose College, Oxford. Place House, a building attached to a farm-house and formerly much larger than it now is, is an ancient and curious structure, chiefly remarkable for the local tradition that it was once the residence of King John. Lord Boston, of Hedsor, Maidenhead, is lord of the manor and sole landowner. The soil is a red and heavy land; subsoil, clay, ironstone and limestone. The chief crops are cereals, pulse and roots. The area is 809 acres; rateable value, £1,362; the population in 1881 was 82.

WHITFIELD is a village and parish on the Bucks border, 2 miles north-east-by-north from Brackley and 3 south-by-east from Helmdon station, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of King's Sutton, Brackley union and county court district, rural deanery of Brackley third, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough, near the road from Brackley to Towcester. The church of St. John the Evangelist is a building of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, south porch and a western tower with octagonal broach spire containing 5 bells: the church was entirely rebuilt by private subscription in 1870, at a cost of about £2,855, under the direction of Mr. Henry Woodyear, architect, of Guildford,

Surrey; the seats are all free and open. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1681; marriages, 1693; burials, 1678. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value from glebe, tithe, corn rent and tithe rent-charge £320 with residence, in the gift of the Provost and fellows of Worcester College, Oxford, and held since 1867 by the Rev. Lewis Paige M.A. Trinity College, Dublin. The Wesleyans have a place of worship here. The charities, amounting to about £20 a year, are derived from land in the parish, and there is besides an allotment of eight acres of land, producing £23 yearly, which is disbursed in money at Easter. Mrs. Leeson's charity of 10s. yearly is distributed to widows at Christmas. The Provost and fellows of Worcester College, Oxford, are lords of the manor and principal land-owners. The area is about 1,401 acres; rateable value, £1,090 2s. 6d.; the population in 1881 was 213.

WHITTLEBURY is a village and parish $\frac{3}{4}$ miles south-by-west from Towcester, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Greenes Norton, union and county court district of Towcester, rural deanery of Brackley second, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Mary is an ancient building of stone in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a low embattled western tower containing 4 bells and a clock; an organ was erected in 1848; the stained east window is a memorial to the late Lord Southampton, who died 16 July, 1872, and was erected by his tenantry and friends: in the north aisle is a stained window to the memory of Lady Southampton, inserted by her husband; the church was restored in 1878, under the direction of Mr. P. J. St. Aubyn, of London, at a cost of £10,000, defrayed by R. Loder esq. M.P., J.P. The register including Silverstone dates from the year 1655. The living is a vicarage with the chapelry of Silverstone annexed, joint gross yearly value about £380, including 8 acres of glebe (without residence), in the patronage of the Crown, and held since 1873 by the Rev. Arthur Joseph Street B.A. of Queens' College, Cambridge. There is a small Wesleyan chapel. The charities consist of land in lieu of forest rights and investments, producing £23; a sum of £6 19s. is also received from Bryan's Charity at Amptill, Beds. held 4th August, 1655, by John Bryan, of Amptill; the rent of the land is annually distributed to the "most deserving and God-fearing widows." There is also a sum of £1, left by Mrs. Jane Leeson, of Abthorpe, 27th March, 1645. Whittlebury Lodge, completely destroyed by fire 2nd January, 1863, has since been rebuilt and is now the property of Robert Loder esq. M.P., J.P.; very extensive alterations and additions have been made, including the erection of a large hall, tennis court and stabling with other improvements; attached is a park of 630 acres. Sholbrook Lodge is now unoccupied. Whittlebury Forest was a favourite hunting resort of our early monarchs, who had a residence within its area; it was divided into five walks, viz.: Hasleborough, Sholebroke, Wakefield, Hanger and Shrob, and included also the Benedictine priory of Lutfield, founded in 1124 by the Earl of Leicester and dependent on Westminster Abbey. The Duke of Grafton is lord of the manor. Robert Loder M.P., J.P. is the chief landowner. The soil and subsoil are various. The chief crops are wheat, barley, beans, oats &c. The area is 3,218 acres; rateable value, £3,534; the population in 1881 was 493.

WICKEN, or Wykens, consists of two ancient parishes, Wyke Dyve and Wyke Hamon, and is a parish on the Bucks border, $\frac{3}{4}$ miles west-south-west from Stony Stratford, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Cleley, union of Potterspury, county court district of Towcester, rural deanery of Preston second, archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. John the Evangelist is an edifice of stone, designed and built by Thomas Prowse esq. in 1758 and finished after his death; it consists of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch and a western tower with pinnacles, containing 5 bells and a clock with chimes; the stained east window was inserted by the Pennant family; the reredos is a memorial to the Rev. John Josiah Barton, a former rector, and was also given by the Pennant family; in the south aisle is a brass to Thomas Howse, gent. high constable of Cleley hundred, 1633, and Mary (Clarke), his wife. The register dates from the year 1559. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £452, gross yearly value £600, including 132 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of Lord Penrhyn, and held since 1873 by the Rev. Edward Cadogan M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford, and rural dean. The numerous charities produce £14 yearly, derived from Government stock, left in 1774 by Edward Whitton, and are distributed in various ways annually. Wicken Park, the seat of Lord Penrhyn, is situated about 1 mile south of the village: the mansion was enlarged and converted from a park lodge by Charles Hosier esq. who owned the estate in 1716, and it subsequently passed by marriage to Sir John Mordaunt and thence by purchase to the Pennant family. Lord Penrhyn J.P. is lord of the manor and sole landowner. The soil is clay; subsoil, principally limestone. The chief crops are wheat, beans and barley. The area is about 2,565 acres; rateable value, £3,430; the population in 1881 was 408.

WITTERING (or WHITTERING) is a parish in the Northern division of the county, Peterborough liberty, union of Stamford, county court district of Peterborough, rural deanery of Peterborough second, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles north-west-by-west from Wansford and 3 south-east from Stamford, its nearest railway station. The church of All Saints is an ancient edifice of stone, in mixed styles, consisting of chancel, nave, north aisle, south porch and a western tower with pyramidal spire containing 3 bells; at the east end of the north aisle is a mortuary chapel: the chancel arch, worked in rude and massive moulding, is conjectured to be Saxon and portions of the structure exhibit the long and short work peculiar to that style; the spire which has an entasis or swelling outwards, was in June, 1866, struck by lightning; the church was restored in 1870. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1649; burials, 1648; marriages, 1695. The living is a rectory, net yearly value £106, including

10 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Marquess of Exeter, and held since 1857 by the Rev. Edward Hawley Everett, of St. Aidans. The Marquess of Exeter supports a clothing club. There are some excellent springs here and some good stone quarries. The Marquess of Exeter P.C., M.A., D.L., J.P. is lord of the manor and owner of the whole of the land excepting the glebe. The soil is sand and clay; subsoil, rocky. The land is principally arable. The chief crops are wheat, barley, beans &c. WOLLASTON is a parish on the Beds border, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles south-south-east from Wellingborough, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Higham Ferrers, union and county court district of Wellingborough, rural deanery of Higham Ferrers first, archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The river Nene divides on the north-west, a portion of this parish from that of Doddington. The church of St. Mary, originally cruciform, consists of chancel, nave, aisles, north transept, north and south porches and a central tower with broach spire containing [] bells: the greater part of the structure fell down on the 13th Nov. 1735, and the tower and spire with the north transept are the only portions of the original church remaining; the octagonal spire has three tiers of spire lights and from its lofty elevation forms a good landmark: the body of the church and chancel, rebuilt in 1737, have no pretensions to architectural beauty; it has north and south galleries, built in 1841, when the west gallery was extended; the tower arches, previously obscured by unnecessary rubble work and defaced, have now been restored: in the chancel are several mural tablets to the Neale, Dickens and Shipton families; there is a quaint monument to a member of the Shipton family, and one mural tablet to "Edmund Neale," dated 1617: there are sittings for 1,400 persons. The register dates from the year 1663. The living is a discharged vicarage, separated from that of Irchester, June 21, 1880, net yearly value £240, including 118 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of and held since [] by the Rev. Harcourt Morley Isaac Powell M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. There are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels. The charities amount to £211s. yearly, derived from the legacies of Mr. Bettles and a rent-charge on the land of Mr. Whitehead; £4 of this sum is for books for the choir and the remainder for food for the poor. A reading and news-room was established here in 1877, and has now (1885) 40 members. The Wollaston Gas and Coke Company, Limited, was formed here in 1869; £5 shares were issued, raising a capital of £1,700, and works were erected at the south end of the village in 1872, from whence the village is well lighted with gas. Shoemaking is carried on here and affords employment to a large number of the inhabitants; others are engaged in agriculture, and in making mats of the rushes which grow in the Nene and neighbouring streams. Wollaston Hall, the seat of Joseph Hill esq. J.P. is a stone mansion, pleasantly situated in park-like grounds, a little to the east of the church. South-south-west of the church is Beacon Hill, a high conical mound about half-an-acre in extent, planted with shrubs and trees. Joseph Hill esq. J.P. is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are Earl Spencer &c. Joseph Hill esq. J.P. William Whitehead, sen. esq. G. H. Barnham esq. Lieut.-Col. Thompson, A. C. Keep esq. St. Bartholomew's Hospital, John Sanders esq. Thomas Brawn esq. John Price esq. and Christ's Hospital. The soil is of a good fertile mixed character; substratum, Great Oolite limestone, sand, ironstone and Upper Lias clay. WOOD NEWTON (formerly a chapelry to Nassington) is now a parish $\frac{1}{2}$ miles north from Oundle and 2 south from Nassington station on the London and North Western railway, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Willybrook, Oundle union and county court district, rural deanery of Oundle (second portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Mary is an ancient edifice of stone, in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, south aisle, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 2 bells: the stone font and carved wood pulpit are both good examples: the tower was thoroughly restored in 1862. The register dates from the year 1588. The living is a vicarage, with that of Apeothorpe annexed, joint net yearly value £200, with 45 acres of glebe, and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough, and held since 1875 by the Rev. Henry Salmon Bagshaw LL.B. of Emmanuel College, Cambridge. The vicarage, which stands close to the church, was built in 1871, at a cost of about £2,000, of which £1,400 was given by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. Here is a small Wesleyan chapel erected in 1840. The church estate produces about £35 yearly, and Lady Grace Midway's charity of £9 yearly, left in the seventeenth century, is for apprenticing children of this parish. The Earl of Westmorland C.B., D.L., J.P. is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is principally arable; subsoil, various. The chief crops are wheat, barley and beans. The area is 1,590 acres; rateable value, £2,328; the population in 1881 was 478.

WOODFORD (near Thrapston) is a village and parish on the Nene, 1 mile south-east from Twywell station, 3 miles south-west from Thrapston, 7 east from Kettering, 7 north from Higham Ferrers and 72 from London, in the Oundle division of the county, hundred of Huxloe, union and county court district of Thrapston, rural deanery of Higham Ferrers (second portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of St. Mary the Virgin is a large building of stone, in Early English and Later styles and consists of chancel, nave with clerestory, aisles, north and south porches and a western tower with four pinnacles and spire, and containing 5 bells: at the east end of the north aisle are two very curious recumbent wooden effigies conjectured to represent Sir Walter de Trayly, or Treilly, 1290, and Alianora, his wife, A.D. 1316: there is also a brass with effigy and inscription, to Simon Malory the elder esq. 1580: the church was restored in the year 1867, at a cost of £2,340, under the direction of Mr. William Slater, architect, of Northampton, and in the same year the chancel was restored, at a cost of £1,000, under the direction of Mr. Fowler, architect: the chancel has stained windows on the east and south sides; during the restoration of the church a box containing the remains of a human heart wrapped in cloth was found enclosed within one of the columns of the north arcade of the nave, but there was nothing to show to whom it had belonged. The register dates from the year 1680. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value from 360 acres of glebe £480 with residence, in the gift of Lord St. John, and held since 1884 by the Rev. John Theod Watson M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge: the church land, with nine rent, produces £100 yearly. There are Baptist and Wesleyan Methodist chapels. The charity estate of 39 acres produces £100 yearly for the poor. Shoe making is carried on largely by the villagers for the manufacturers of the neighbouring towns, and there are extensive mines of iron ore in full work. A Temperance Hall was built in 1883, at a cost of £500, for lectures and entertainments, and will hold 300 persons. Woodford House, the property of C. H. Plevis esq. is a pleasant mansion surrounded by well-wooded pleasure grounds, and situated about 2 miles west of the village. Mrs. Stopford-Sackville, of Drayton house, Lowick, Thrapston, who is lady of the manor, and C. H. Plevis esq. are the principal landowners. The soil is clay; subsoil, clay and ironstone. The chief crops are wheat, barley and beans. The area is 2,126 acres; rateable value, £7,009; the population in 1881 was 1,500.

WOODFORD-CUM-MEMBRIS is a parish comprising the village of WOODFORD HALSE and hamlets of HINTON and WEST FARDON, watered by the river Cherwell, 9 miles south from Daventry and 1½ east from Byfield station on the East and West Junction railway, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Chipping Warden, union and county court district of Daventry, rural deanery of Brackley (first), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The church of All Saints is a building of stone, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 4 bells: it was restored in 1878, at a cost of about £4,000; when the tower was enlarged and rebuilt, a new door and window being inserted, and a large arch constructed between the tower and the nave; the clerestory and north aisle were also rebuilt; a new vestry porch and organ chamber erected and the whole church new roofed and roseated, the old oak benches of the fifteenth century being incorporated as far as possible: on the south side of the chancel is a memorial window to the Rev. Richard Walter, 27 years vicar of this parish, who died in 1851; and at the east end is another, inserted in 1884, by Miss Harriett Walter, to her father and mother, the Rev. Richard Walter and Mary Ann, his wife, dated 1869: during the progress of the rebuilding a stone effigy of a lady was discovered on the north side of the church, which is now in the chancel in a recess made for its reception. The register, which is in excellent preservation, dates from the year 1602. The living is a discharged vicarage, tithe rent-charge £70, gross yearly value £275, net £200, including 110 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Lord Chancellor, and held since 1834 by the Rev. Francis Arthur Smith B.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge. Here is a place of worship for Moravians. The charities are of £11 yearly value. The village is supplied with water by a Water Company established in 1859. The Earl of Ellesmere is lord of the manor of Woodford, which is part of the manor of Halse. The principal landowners are Mr. Richard W. Tew, Miss C. Hunt, the trustees of the late Mr. Bates and Mr. William Ward. George Hitchcock

YARWELL is a parish on the west bank of the Nene which separates it from Hunts, $\frac{7}{8}$ miles north-north-east from Oundle, about $\frac{3}{4}$ west from Peterborough and 1 mile north from Nassington station on the North Western railway, in the Northern division of the county, hundred of Wilbybrook, union and county court district of Oundle, rural deanery of Oundle (second portion), archdeaconry of Oakham, and diocese of Peterborough. Yarwell was formerly within the bounds of Rockingham Forest, and The Lodge was the residence of the keeper. The church of St. Mary Magdalene is an ancient structure of stone in the Decorated style, consisting of chancel, nave and a western tower with plain parapet containing 3 bells. The register dates from the year 1560. The living is a chapelry annexed to Nassington, joint gross yearly value £315, including 110 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Bishop of Peterborough, and held since 1879 by the Rev. Daniel William Barrett M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, and rural dean of Oundle (second portion); the Rev. Charles James Percival B.A. of Emmanuel College, Cambridge (appointed by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners with a stipend of £120 a year), is curate in charge. Here is a Wesleyan Methodist chapel. A sum of £15 yearly is distributed to the poor, and there is a charity of £12 a year, left by Lady Grace Midway, of Apebrop, in the seventeenth century, for apprenticing. The Earl of Westmorland C.B., D.L., J.P. is lord of the manor and principal landowner. The soil is a cold clay; subsoil, loam. The parish is principally arable. The area is 1,830 acres; rateable value, £1,826; the population in 1881 was 383.

SULHAY LODGE and LOCK'S LODGE were formerly extra-parochial, but since 1869 the former has been incorporated with Nassington parish and the latter with Yarwell; the area of both is returned with Yarwell.

YELVERTOFT is a parish and large village, situated on the borders of Warwickshire, and watered by a small brook which empties itself into the Avon, $\frac{3}{4}$ miles south from the Yelvertoft station on the North Western railway (locally in the parish of Stanford), $\frac{5}{8}$ south-west from Welford, $\frac{7}{8}$ east from Rugby, $\frac{9}{10}$ north from Daventry and 80 from London, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Guilsborough, union and county court district of Rugby, rural deanery of Haddon (first portion), archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough. The Grand Union canal passes through this parish. The church of All Saints is an edifice of stone, consisting of chancel, nave, three aisles, one on the north and two on the south side, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 5 bells; in the chancel, under a canopy in the north wall, is a full-length recumbent effigy in alabaster, representing John Dyson, rector of Yelvertoft, 1439-45: the wall outside the church, at the back of the tomb, is beautifully panelled and decorated with quatrefoils. The register dates from the year 1573. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value from 337 acres of glebe £500 with residence, in the gift of Robert Castel Jenkins esq. J.P. of Brachley lodge, Chestow, and held since 1875 by the Rev. Hinton Best Jenkins M.A. of Pembroke College, Oxford. Here is a Congregational chapel. There are 8 acres of poor's land, the rent of which is distributed in coals or money to the poor at Christmas; and also 25 acres, the rent of which is applied to the repairs of the church: Reeves's charity of £6 15s. yearly is for fuel. There are no manorial rights and the land is owned by a large number of small freeholders. The land is chiefly pasture; there is a small portion of arable. The soil is clay and rich loam. The area is 2,185 acres; rateable value, £4,269; the population in 1881 was 499.

THE ENGINE, BOILER, AND EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY INSURANCE CO., LD.

HEAD OFFICE: 12, KING STREET, MANCHESTER.

BRANCH OFFICE: 4, WEST REGENT STREET, GLASGOW.

R. B. LONGRIDGE, MANAGING DIRECTOR. EDWARD MOSS, SECRETARY.

THE PRINCIPAL OBJECTS OF THIS COMPANY ARE:—

- ENCINES. Insuring Engines against damage from "Breakdown." Every Engine Insured is Inspected and Indicated periodically at Intervals of three or four months by experienced Officers of the Company.
- BOILERS. Insuring and periodically Inspecting Steam Boilers.
- CONSULTING. Advising professionally as to the best and most economical means of obtaining motive power, and on all matters relating thereto.
- EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY. Indemnifying Employers of labour from losses arising from claims under the Employers' Liability Act. [29]

THE NATIONAL BOILER INSURANCE CO. LIMITED,

(ESTABLISHED 1864.)

OFFICES—22, ST. ANN'S SQUARE, MANCHESTER.

Mr. HENRY HILLER, Chief Engineer & Manager.

OFFER THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES TO INSURERS.

Reduction of Risk of Accident or Explosion, by efficient, but not arbitrary inspection. Written reports sent to the owners thereon.

General Advice, founded on experience of many thousands of Boilers, given by the Chief Engineer.

If Explosion occurs, damage to Boilers, Buildings, &c., made good. Furnace Tubes injured through deficiency of water restored to working order.

This Company's Policies now include, without extra charge, claims for personal injury, under the Employers' Liability Act, 1880, and at Common Law, from Explosion of Boilers or Collapse of Pipes.

SOLE PROPRIETORS OF THE PATENTS FOR IMPROVEMENTS IN DOUBLE CONE FUSIBLE PLUGS. These plugs are most reliable, and far surpass other constructions. See Descriptive Circulars.

The ASSOCIATION employs NO AGENTS, and pays NO COMMISSION in any shape for the introduction of Policies.

Its expenses are small, being less than 3 per cent. of its annual income from premiums and interest.

An investigation of its affairs is made every year, and the surplus is applied to the reduction of the Premiums until they are extinguished, and then to the increase of the sum assured. The reduction begins with the eighth premium.

During the last 80 years the reduction has increased, on an average, at the rate of about One per cent. per annum, and as the mortality among its Members continues to be much within the estimate, and the Funds of the Society are invested at a higher rate of interest than is assumed in the valuations, it is expected that the Premiums may be still further reduced.

PREMIUMS commenced before July 1878 (4th series) are this year reduced 68 per cent.

"	"	July 1865 (2nd series)	"	"	93	"
"	"	January 1856 (1st series)	"	"	100	"

And, as the reduction of premiums in the First Series can be carried no further, an addition of three per cent. of the annual premium has been made this year to the sum assured.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Insurances are granted on Property situate in all parts of the British Dominions, and in most Foreign Countries, at rates which are computed according to the actual risk incurred. The Company has already paid over FOUR MILLIONS STERLING in the settlement of Claims under its Fire Policies.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.—The Company offers the advantage of perfect Security, with great Economy in Management and Moderate Rates of Premium. The total expenses in the year 1883 were slightly under $\frac{7}{8}$ per cent. of the Income from Premiums and Interest, or, excluding Commission paid to Agents, less than 4 per cent.

In the Participation Branch the whole of the ascertained surplus at each valuation belongs to the Assured. The amount for the Quinquennium ending 31st December, 1880, was sufficient to provide a Bonus of £1 10s. per cent. per annum upon the sum Assured or £7 10s. per cent. on the whole Quinquennium, beside leaving £46,311 to be carried forward. Insurances against Loss by Fire and Lightning are effected by the PHOENIX COMPANY upon every description of Property, in all parts of the World, on the most favourable Terms.

The experience of over a century has proved the promptitude and liberality with which its engagements are always met by this Company, and the importance of its relations with the Public may be estimated from the fact that, since its establishment, it has paid in discharge of Claims for Losses more than

FIFTEEN MILLIONS STERLING.

Persons insured by this Company are not liable to make good the Losses of others, as is the case in many Offices, and the protection afforded is undoubted, the Capital being largely invested in Government Securities, and the Proprietary including some of the most opulent Gentlemen and Merchants in the Kingdom.

Rates and Particulars of Insurance may be obtained at the Chief Offices, Lombard Street, and Charing Cross and from the respective Agents of the Company, for whose names see Body of this Directory. [27]

THE BUSINESS OF THE COMPANY

Has increased steadily year by year, until it has attained its present large amount, and during the last 30 years its progress has been very rapid.

The ANNUAL REVENUE exceeds EIGHT HUNDRED AND SEVENTY THOUSAND POUNDS STERLING.

The ACCUMULATED and INVESTED FUND exceeds SIX MILLIONS STERLING.

The Directors invite particular attention to the new terms and conditions of the Free Assurance Scheme, under which persons assured are allowed to reside in any part of the world free of extra premium.

FREE ASSURANCE.—Persons not less than 25 years of age, who, when proposing for Assurance, satisfy the Directors that they have no intention or prospect of proceeding abroad, from their occupation and other circumstances, are charged the ordinary Home Premium, and may afterwards proceed to and reside in any part of the world without extra premium.

Existing Policy Holders shall have the benefit of the new terms and conditions, on application to that effect, provided the Directors are satisfied that such new benefit ought to be conferred.

POLICIES OF FIVE YEARS' DURATION effected for the whole term of life, at a uniform rate of premium may, with certain exceptions, be renewed within thirteen months of date of lapsing on payment of a Fine; and in the event of death, the claims will be paid subject to deduction of Premiums unpaid and Fines.

POLICIES OF LESS THAN FIVE YEARS' DURATION may be renewed within Thirteen Months on very favourable terms.

The PROFITS of the Company have been divided on ten occasions:—The first division took place in 1835, then in 1840, 1845, 1850, 1855, 1860, 1865, 1870, 1875 and 1880.

The next DIVISION OF PROFITS for the 5 years, ending 15th November, 1885, will be declared in 1886.

Surrender Values granted after one annual payment on With Profit Policies, or three annual payments on those Without Profit, or Loans granted on such Policies within their surrender value.

One of the Medical Officers attends at the London Office, 83, King William Street, City, daily, at half-past one.

Every information can be obtained at any of the Offices or Agencies of the Company.

Trustees:

ARTHUR T. PRATT BARLOW, Esq. EDWARD BRYDGES HARDISTY, Esq. ALBERT MOTT, Esq.

Entire security is given to the Assured by a Guaranteed Capital of nearly £120,000, and a Fund amounting to £460,000 invested in the Public Stocks and on Mortgages, &c., being the accumulated premiums received on Assurances.

The rates of Premium are moderate and the conditions of Assurance liberal.

Eighty per Cent. of the net profits are divided every five years among the holders of Policies under the participating class of Assurers.

The Tenth Division of profit will be made in February, 1887.

The profits may either be received in Cash or a Bonus added to the Policy, or a reduction made in all future Annual Premiums.

At the Ninth Division of Profit, declared 21st February, 1882, on the business of the Association for the Five Years ending 31st December, 1881, Reversionary Additions were made to the sums assured of 30 per cent. and under (according to the age of the life assured) on the premiums received upon Policies since the division of 1877.

Annual Premiums may be paid by Half-Yearly or Quarterly Instalments.

Endowment Assurances are granted by this Association, by which a person, by the payment of a moderate Annual Premium, can secure a sum to be paid to himself, should he attain a specified age, or the amount will be paid to his representatives, should he die before that time.

Immediate, Deferred, and Survivorship Annuities granted upon favourable terms.

BELL'S ASBESTOS

THE LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN ASBESTOS.

BELL'S ASBESTOS METALLIC & INDIA-RUBBER WOVEN SHEETING.

A Jointing Material possessing many times the Tensile Strength of anything hitherto manufactured for the purpose.

The Asbestos and India-rubber Woven Sheet, introduced by us some years ago, has proved so great a success that all the manufacturers of Asbestos in this country and on the Continent have imperfectly imitated it. That material, though superior to everything previously introduced for many kinds of Steam Joints, does not bear the strain put upon it in connection with the use of steam, and therefore in order to meet the requirements of every class of steam user, a superior article is now offered to the public. The improvement consists in the manufacture of a fabric composed partly of finely spun Asbestos and partly of a fine Wire of suitable alloy to impart great tensile strength, retainable under the highest temperature, and rendering the material capable of resisting the highest pressures hitherto attained. A sheet of 1-ply will serve where 2-ply of the Asbestos Woven Sheet, without wire, are necessary.

BELL'S ASBESTOS METALLIC

AND

India-Rubber Woven Tape.

The material above described is made up in the form of Tape for Cylinder Covers, Manhole and Mudhole Joints, &c. All liability for leakage is overcome by the introduction of Wire in the manufacture.

CAUTION.

These three materials are manufactured under the Turner-Bell Patent, and the Rights will be strictly Protected by Legal Proceedings against all Infringers.

ASBESTOLINERD

—THE BEST LUBRICANT FOR ALL KINDS OF MACHINERY ASHORE OR AFLOAT.—

2/3 Per lb.

1 LB. EQUAL TO 2 GALLONS OF BEST OIL.

BELL'S ASBESTOS METALLIC Cloth Packing.

This material is equally suitable for high or low pressure. By this special combination of Asbestos and Metal, friction is reduced to a minimum, and as a heat-resisting packet it is perfect. The introduction of wire is also combined with the Asbestos, and prevents its fraying away by the friction of the packing. This Cloth Packing may be used in either wet or dry steam. It possesses the greatest elasticity, strength, and durability ever attained in steam packing, and is the surest remedy for worn glands and uneven rods.

CAUTION.

These three materials are manufactured under the Turner-Bell Patent, and the Rights will be strictly Protected by Legal Proceedings against all Infringers.

Howard College, Bedford; Compton House, Bromham Road.

A BOARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Principal:—MRS. COMPTON BURNETT.

(Member of Trinity College, London.)

COMPTON HOUSE is situated in the best part of the Town, and has been built for the work of the College.

Mrs. C. BURNETT is specially careful for the health and the domestic comfort of her Pupils, and guarantees their thorough training—physical, mental, and moral.

An efficient Staff of Five Masters and Seven Certificated Governesses and Mistresses. French spoken under the supervision of a resident Foreign Governess.

The public successes of the past two years include:—Eight passes at the Cambridge Local Examinations—Five Seniors and three Juniors, one Senior in Honours and one Junior distinguished in Music. Two passes at the Royal Academy Local, in Music, both Seniors, one in Honours. Thirty-two Passes at the College of Preceptors—eight in the First Class, four of them in the First Division of that Class, and eight Distinctions, one of them being the highest in England in Music. Twenty-four Passes at Trinity College, London, in Music, seven in Honours.

A few Day Pupils received. Students may attend for separate subjects.

Mrs. C. BURNETT asks attention to a few quotations from letters of Parents and Guardians who have, or have had, children under her care. The letters themselves, and many others, can be seen on application.

(Bedford.)—"Christian tone, earnestness of purpose, and thoroughness in detail, are among the leading features. Nor must we forget the family life that has grown upon the Pupils under Mr. and Mrs. BURNETT'S care, making real work a pleasure."

(Northampton.)—"I thank you very much for the care and attention bestowed upon my daughter whilst under your charge. I am well pleased with the progress she has made in her studies, and regret she did not attend your School sooner."

(Bedfordshire.)—"I felt my children had a second home."

(London.)—"Had I fifty daughters I would certainly send them to no other School."

(Liverpool.)—"I have never regretted placing my sisters under your care, not only for the thorough education they have received, but for the benefit of being where home comforts and care formed a subject of thought and action for the happiness of all under your care."

(Manchester.)—"I appreciate your kindness and also your strict attention to every department of my niece's education. My only regret has been that she did not come to you two years earlier."

(Berkshire.)—"I had every reason to be satisfied with your management of my children in every way. They were well taught, and the moral training was such as to make them thoughtful girls . . . I shall hope to send the three younger ones to you to complete their education."

(Lincolnshire.)—"The term at HOWARD COLLEGE was a very happy one in every way, and the studies in every way satisfactory; also the Certificate for passing the Cambridge Examination. Our only regret is that my sister could not continue . . . she is very disappointed."

TOWCESTER SCHOOL,

TOWCESTER.

PRINCIPAL—W. T. KNIGHT, Ph.D., F.S.Sc. (Lond.),

Author of "Algebraic Factors, How to Find them, and How to Use them." "Solutions to Science Papers," &c.

Assisted by a competent staff of Masters and Governesses.

The whole of the School Curriculum is under the personal superintendence of the Principal, whose experience in teaching has been long and varied. For nearly thirteen years Dr. KNIGHT has been engaged in the tuition of both sexes, of all ages, and has prepared candidates for all kinds of examinations, including Woolwich, Line, Marines, Engineer Studentships, Civil Service Class I., Excise, London Matriculation, Dublin B.A., Oxford Responsions, Oxford and Cambridge Locals, Women's Higher, Girton Scholarships, College of Preceptors, Pharmaceutical Society, South Kensington Science, &c.

The Household arrangements are under the direct supervision of Mrs. Knight, whose chief aim is to promote the comfort and welfare of those under her care. Each boarder has a separate bed—unless by the special desire of parents. The dietary is liberal and varied.

This School affords special facilities to parents desiring to place their sons and daughters at the same establishment, as it is divided into two entirely distinct and separate departments, devoted respectively to the education of the two sexes. The schoolrooms are far apart, having entrances in different streets; the hours of recreation and of commencing and leaving study are different in the two portions; and, in the case of boarders, the meals are taken in different houses. There is consequently no communication of any kind whatever between the two branches, while, at the same time, arrangements can easily be made for brothers and sisters to see each other periodically.

The steady improvement in the tone of the School, and the results of the work done, speak for themselves. At the recent Open Competition for Engineer Studentships a Pupil obtained the second place, and consequently became entitled to one of the Studentships in Naval Construction offered by the Lords of the Admiralty. This Scholar shewed a gain of twenty-five places and nearly five hundred marks as the result of six months' training under Dr. KNIGHT.

Pupils can be received at any time, and proportionate charges made for the first term.

Season Tickets are issued by the Railway Companies at extremely low charges.

Terms and Testimonials on application to the Principal.

The Rev. P. G. MACDONALL, Cosgrove Rectory, Stony Stratford.
The Rev. F. W. HARNETT, St. George's Vicarage, Wolverton, Bucks.
The Rev. J. M. LESTER, Pembroke Villa, Ayr.
And to Parents of Pupils.

THE HEAD MASTER has had considerable experience in School Work, and will make the moral and religious training of the Pupils his especial care.

The course of study is adapted, as far as practicable, to the mental capacity of individual Pupils, and to their future walk in life. The elder Boys are sent in for the Local and other Examinations.

Careful provision is made for health and comfort in the domestic arrangements. The premises, which are pleasantly situated, consist of lofty and well-arranged School and Class Rooms, Dormitories and Lavatory, with good Cricket, Football, Tennis and Play Grounds, lately improved at considerable outlay, in addition to a large Swimming Bath, carefully graduated in point of depth; the whole covering about EIGHT ACRES.

A good supply of Milk is procured from the Private Dairy.

The Head Master employs such a Staff of University Men and others as will enable him, with their assistance, efficiently to instruct his Pupils in all required subjects.

The Year is divided into Three Terms. The Charge for Boarders is 35 Guineas per Annum, strictly inclusive.

For further particulars apply to Head Master, Trinity School, Stony Stratford.

NORTHAMPTON HERALD.

ESTABLISHED 1831.

THE NORTHAMPTON HERALD, established more than 50 years, is a Conservative Journal, taking high rank amongst the Weekly Provincial Newspapers of the Kingdom. The circulation of the Herald extends not only throughout Northamptonshire, but covers a considerable area beyond its borders in the neighbouring Midland Counties of Huntingdon, Bedford, Buckingham, Oxford, Warwick, Leicester, Rutland and Lincoln. The Herald is to be found in the hands of all classes—the Landed Proprietors, the Clergy, Agriculturists, Merchants, Tradesmen, Artisans and Labourers. The advantages to advertisers offered by the Herald are unusually great and widely appreciated.

Price 2d. Stamped, by Post, 3s. per Quarter. Prepaid, 2s. 6d. per Quarter.

Published on Saturdays (early edition on Friday Evenings).

The Northampton Daily Chronicle,

Published at Four and Six p.m., Daily (Fridays excepted), gives the latest Local, General, and Sporting News, by Road, Rail and Wire. It has a large circulation and is highly appreciated as a really informant and Advertiser. Price, One Half-penny.

These Three Papers are the recognised Organs of the Shoe Trade.

Proprietor:—A. V. DICEY. Editor:—D. A. PEACHEY.

THE OLDEST PAPER IN THE COUNTY OF HUNTINGDON.

ST. NEOTS CHRONICLE.

Published every Friday evening for Saturday, price One Penny.

Offices: High Street, ST. NEOTS.

ESTABLISHED in 1855, this paper has made steady progress, and for a long period has been recognized as one of the best advertising mediums in the district. Not only in the county in which it is published, but also in the counties of Beds and Cambs, the ST. NEOTS CHRONICLE commands an extensive circulation. For all descriptions of advertisements the paper has obtained a pre-eminence, and more especially for those relating to agriculture. Fruit and vegetable salesmen, manufacturers of artificial manures, agricultural implement makers, &c., will thus find it an admirable organ for giving publicity to their notices amongst farmers, market gardeners, and others. The regular subscribers to the CHRONICLE include the majority of the gentry, farmers, and tradesmen resident in the district, and the paper is therefore more freely used than any other in the neighbourhood for announcements of a general character.

DENNIS'S

CELEBRATED LINCOLNSHIRE

PIG POWDERS

SPEEDILY ARREST DISEASE AND SAVE LIFE, and are acknowledged the best remedy for Swine Fever, Colds, Retention of Urine, Tender Feet, Loss of Appetite, Inflammation, Costiveness, Milk Fever, Coughs, Fits, Hooses, &c., &c. They are a Medicine and Condiment in One.

The lives of thousands of Pigs are annually saved by their use. No person who keeps a Pig should be without them, for, by their regular use, when in health, they prevent disease, by cleansing and stimulating the system; and by giving tone to the stomach not only increase the APPETITE, but enable the system to separate a greater amount of flesh-forming material from the same quantity of food, thus assisting the animal to lay on fat rapidly, and assuring a larger growth.

CAUTION.—The immense success of these powders throughout England has called forth numerous imitations, most of which are perfectly useless as a Medicine, being only a low-priced condiment, worthless in disease. These Powders, on the contrary, maintain their superiority over all others, and give entire satisfaction to all using them. In fact they are the only MEDICINE which CURES all DISEASES to which PIGS are SUBJECT.

Sold everywhere in Packets, with full Directions on each.—Six Powders for Fiverpence, Twelve for Tenpence.

Chemists and others not having them in stock will readily procure them, or the Proprietor will send free a Box containing 1 Gross of Powders for 10s.; $\frac{1}{2}$ Gross for 5s.; $\frac{1}{4}$ Gross for 2s. 9d.; 1 Doz. 1s., for P.O.O. or Stamps.

A HIGHLY CONCENTRATED VEGETABLE BUTTER COLOURING.

"CARROTINE" Mixes freely only with the Butter or the fatty portion of the Cream; leaving the Buttermilk or watery part only slightly tinged. It imparts to the Butter a beautifully bright and much desired colour, without in any way injuring its fresh and natural flavour. At certain seasons of the year, and on some lands, even when Cows are at grass, artificial colouring has to be resorted to, and many people will admit how troublesome to prepare or uncertain in effect are most preparations now before the public.

"CARROTINE," on the contrary, gives no trouble, and may be relied upon to produce the very colour which gives an additional value to all Butter. It imparts neither taste nor smell, and is perfectly harmless.

Thousands have proved its utility and recommended its use. It entirely does away with the trouble and annoyance of grating carrots, and is infinitely superior to all preparations of annatto. Being in a liquid form, all that is required is to add the requisite quantity to the Cream in the churn.

FARMERS AND DAIRYMEN USE IT

Because Butter coloured with "Carrotine" sells readily and fetches a better price in the open market.

BUTTERMEN AND GROCERS RECOMMEND ITS USE

Because Butter coloured with "Carrotine" ensures a ready sale.

CONSUMERS PREFER BUTTER COLOURED WITH IT

Because it is tempting to the eye, and as it imparts neither taste nor smell, and is guaranteed purely vegetable and harmless, there can be nothing prejudicial or objectionable to its use.

SOLD IN BOTTLES at 6d., 1s., and 2s. EACH.

Most Chemists keep it in stock, but any will procure it for you. Wholesale Agents—Barclay & Son, W. Sutton & Co., Hovenden & Son, W. Edwards & Son, London; Lofthouse & Saltner, Hull; T. Allen & Co., Boston; Battle, Son & Co., Lincoln; Sturton & Son, Peterborough; Beall & Son, Cambridge.

WYE HOUSE ASYLUM, BUXTON, DERBYSHIRE.

AN ESTABLISHMENT FOR THE CARE AND TREATMENT OF THE INSANE OF THE HIGHER AND MIDDLE CLASSES.

Resident Physician and Proprietor—F. K. DICKSON, F.R.O.P. and F.R.C.S. Edin.

ERECTED IN 1861 BY HIS GRACE THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE.

This Institution has been established for the reception of patients of BOTH SEXES of the Higher and Middle Classes, for whom it is admirably adapted by its position and appointments.

It is erected on an eminence surrounded with scenery of the most varied character, and the views from the House and Terrace extend over many miles of picturesque country.

The house is furnished throughout on the most liberal scale, and fitted up and arranged to resemble as much as possible an ordinary dwelling-house with Bath-rooms and every necessary convenience.

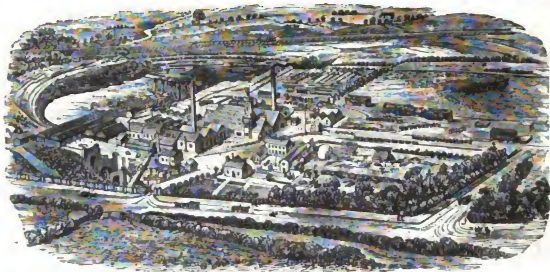

The Proprietor lives in the House, and is assisted in his duties by a Resident House Surgeon and an experienced Lady Supt.

The House is heated throughout by means of hot-water apparatus, and is well and thoroughly ventilated.

Buxton is situated on the Mountain Limestone Formation, at an elevation of 1,000 feet above the level of the sea, and is accessible by Railway from Manchester and Liverpool by Stockport, or by the Great Northern and Midland Railways and Ambergate and Derby. It is also connected by Telegraph with all parts of the kingdom.

Particulars of Terms and Forms of Admission can be obtained on application to the Resident Physician.

BEST CURE FOR SMOKY CHIMNEYS.

PATRONISED BY HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

MILBURN'S PATENT NOISELESS REVOLVING CHIMNEY COWL.

Northumberland Works, MARLBOROUGH.

THIS is the only Cowl as yet in the market which in ALL cases prevents wind blowing down the chimneys. It is almost impossible to say too much in its praise. Placed in the most trying situations, it has never been known to fail. Great care is used in the construction of its internal fittings, which, being made of Copper and Brass, will last a long time. It is not at all liable to get out of order, and is made so strong that it will stand the force of a hurricane; in fact, increased action of a storm only increases its efficiency. It is perfectly noiseless; is easily swept—the shaft being free from obstruction to the sweep machine—the head cleansing itself; a heavy fall of snow does not impede its action, neither is it affected by frost. In case of the chimney taking fire, it would remain uninjured, being made fire-proof; and the oil-box requires replenishing with oil only once in six years.

MADE IN GALVANIZED IRON, WITH COPPER FIRE-PROOF OIL-BOX, £3 10s.

*DELIVERED FREE to any Railway Station in the United Kingdom.
Can be fixed by any Builder.*

Thirteen Thousand in Use.

NOTE.—This Cowl has no Archimedian Screw which prevents Sweeping. [28]

JOSEPH BALL, LIGHTNING CONDUCTOR MANUFACTURER, And Chimney Restorer. Chimneys Straightened and Pointed with Mastic. Gentlemen's Residences, Churches, Chapels and Spires FIXED WITH LIGHTNING CONDUCTORS. Manufacturer and Fitter of Electric Bells and Telephones. YORK CASTLE, OLDHAM.

THE "BUILDER" OF JANUARY, 1883. says:

AN OLDHAM STEEPLE JACK AT STALYBRIDGE.—The large chimney at the Staly-bridge Spinning Company's new mill which is now 70 yards high, and will be 75 yards when finished, had gradually commenced to lean, and on the birth of the New Year was over 20-inches out of plumb, the builders being afraid to work on it any longer. The chimney became worse, and the architects were very uneasy over it, the more so, perhaps, on the account of the fatal calamity at Bradford; and on the 2nd inst. this able services of Mr. Jos. Ball, steeple Jack, of York Castle, Oldham, was called in. This expert in the above class of work has had a lifetime of practical experience, and the able manner in which he has completed work in all branches of his profession was sufficient security for the architects, builders, and directors of the above mill that the work could not be left in more skilled hands. Mr. Ball commenced work on the 4th, and after working night and day has, according to his promise, brought the chimney within 1/4 in. of the perpendicular. We are informed that Mr. Ball is engaged in straightening a large chimney at the Colne Agricultural Works, Earls Colne, Essex; and the large chimney at Hartley's Chemical Works, near Belfast; and is generally repairing the five chimneys at Marshall's Machine Works, Galashborough; Strine's Printing Works chimney; Platt Bros., & Co.'s two chimneys; St. Peter's Church, Kentish Town, London; and others.

LANCASHIRE and YORKSHIRE RAILWAY CO.

LONDON and "NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY CO.

William Street, Drogheda, Oct. 22nd. 1884.—"I beg to say that Joseph Ball has executed the following work at St. Peter's Church here to my entire satisfaction: Taking down 9 ft. of top of spire and rebuilding same, pointing stone work for 20 feet down from top, and suppling and fixing complete a new Lightning Conductor from top of spire to the ground (250 feet of Copper Wire Rope being employed for same). All the work has been soundly executed and I have every reason to be satisfied with Mr. Ball, he having displayed great skill and his men good training in carrying out the said work.—P. J. DODD, Architect of work at St. Peter's."

ANCIENT ROME.
HISTORY OF ROME
AND THE ROMAN PEOPLE, FROM ITS ORIGIN TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE CHRISTIAN EMPIRE.

By VICTOR DURUY.

EDITED BY THE REV. J. P. MAHAFFY.

Illustrated with about 3,000 Engravings, 100 Maps and Plans, and numerous Chromo-lithographs.
Imp. 8vo. Cloth.

VOL. I.—PRIMITIVE HISTORY TO THE END OF THE SECOND PUNIC WAR.

VOL. II.—FROM THE BATTLE OF ZAMA TO THE END OF THE FIRST TRIUMVIRATE.

VOL. III.—CÆSAR—OCTAVIUS—TO THE COMMENCEMENT OF AUGUSTUS.

VOL. IV.—FROM AUGUSTUS TO THE DEATH OF TRAJAN.

"The merits of M. Duruy's work are so widely acknowledged that it is not necessary to enter upon any lengthened statement showing the great range of historical research displayed in it, or upon any fresh eulogy of the author's power of exposition and illustration. It deals confidently and plausibly with the elucidation of all that is obscure in the great borderland between the prehistoric and the historic. There could be no better present to a student than the magnificent edition of M. Duruy's 'History of the Romans.' It is a book well arranged, well written, well printed, and well illustrated."—Times.

"Its illustrations are a great feature, abundant and strikingly successful, the most recent gains of archaeological research being thus brought under the reader's attention, while views and reproductions of photographs help him to read the history of Rome as far as possible in Italy and among the remains of that varied record. The point and vivacity of the French language has not been lost by its translators, and it has obviously been undertaken by competent hands, from whose skill and knowledge the greatest success may be expected."—Daily Telegraph.

"This splendid work . . ."—Daily News.

"It is richly illustrated and finely got up, and will be as sumptuous in form as it is able in character."—British Quarterly Review.

"A storehouse of artistic illustration of Roman History."—Guardian.

"Duruy's 'History of Rome' is already considered by competent judges to be a standard book of reference. M. Victor Duruy having availed himself of every possible assistance, both from the pages of the great German and Italian Roman historians, such as Niebuhr, Otfried Müller, and Micali, and also from the works of more recent writers, not only on Latin history and literature, but upon the Roman antiquities and late discoveries tending to throw light upon events of historical importance."—Morning Post.

GEOLOGY OF THE COUNTIES OF ENGLAND, AND OF
NORTH AND SOUTH WALES,
By W. JEROME HARRISON, F.G.S.,

Science Demonstrator for the Birmingham School Board, late Curator Leicester Town Museum.

To the detailed description of the Geological features of each County there are added lists of the local Scientific Societies, Museums, Maps and Memoirs of the Geological Survey, and the more important books and papers written by private workers.

REVIEWS.

"We have tested it in many ways, and find that in almost every case the latest information, even when published in journals of very restricted circulation, has been discovered and made use of. There are numerous excellent woodcuts . . . We can heartily recommend this book as a convenient and reliable work of reference."—Nature.

Geology of the Counties of England and Wales, by W. J. Harrison, F.G.S.—"We sincerely compliment Mr. Harrison on producing a good and much required work of geology, which will save a student, not only much personal research and time, but put him on the track of almost everything geological which England and Wales can offer to him."—Science Gossip.

"..... It is obvious that a work full of local details and laden with references is of little value unless scrupulously accurate. Can we, then, rely upon Mr. Harrison's volume as a trustworthy guide? To this question we are able to return a very practical answer. It is now several months since the work was published, and during that time we have had frequent occasion to consult its pages, to check its references, and to put its information to the test. It is a pleasure to state that, so far as our investigation has gone, we can unhesitatingly pronounce the book to be in every way a trustworthy compilation."—The Academy.

"A new interest will thus be attached to the summer holiday or the rural excursion; and with a degree of mental effort, too slight to be otherwise than agreeable, a progress of education may be continually going forward. Taking each county in turn, the writer has carefully indicated the principal rock-masses, or geological formations, tracing a stratum more or less minutely, with the position and direction of the beds, The tyro in geology who chooses any part of Wales for his summer outing will find in Mr. Harrison a guide who will bring him face-to-face with Nature in her most primitive and characteristic haunts."—Saturday Review.

KELLY'S HANDBOOK

TO THE

Titled, Landed, and Official Classes,

CONTAINING ABOUT TWENTY THOUSAND NAMES, GIVES AN ALPHABETICAL LIST OF

ALL MEMBERS OF NOBLE FAMILIES, BISHOPS, PRIVY COUNCILLORS, BARONETS, MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, LORDS-LIEUTENANT, GOVERNORS OF COLONIES, KNIGHTS AND COMPANIONS OF ORDERS, DEANS, AND ARCHDEACONS, JUDGES, SERJEANTS-AT-LAW, QUEEN'S COUNSEL, ETC.
SUPERIOR OFFICERS OF THE ARMY AND NAVY,
COUNTY MAGISTRATES, AND OWNERS OF THE PRINCIPAL SEATS IN ENGLAND.

Price to Subscribers, 12s.

Non-Subscribers, 16s.

The object of this Book is to include, in one general alphabetical list, all those who have any definite position, or title, from Hereditary rank, or order conferred on them by the Sovereign, or from any of the higher grades of the Military, Naval, Legal, Clerical, or Colonial Services of the State; also Deputy Lieutenants, Royal Academicians, Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Learned Societies, County Court Judges, and the larger landowners of the United Kingdom. It is to be observed that it is the only book which enables any one, by reference to a single list, to determine whether any person having a particular title exists, and if so, to discover his residence.

"'Kelly's Handbook to the Titled, Landed, and Official Classes' includes not only untitled landowners, but Indian civilians, admirals, generals and colonels, Royal Academicians and many leading members of the clerical and legal professions who have not received any special title or dignity. The work is likely to be widely useful, and it has reached its eleventh year of publication."—The Times, April 7th, 1886.

"So well known and so valuable an annual needs no words of commendation. As in the previous editions, the proof of every entry has been submitted to the person referred to (with the exception of those instances in which no address in the United Kingdom has been obtained), and the correctness of the work is thereby insured."—The Observer, April 6th, 1886.

"'Kelly's Handbook to the Titled, Landed, and Official Classes' for 1886 is a successful attempt to combine within one volume the contents of several. There are numerous books which record biographical details of the peerage, the legislature, the landed and official classes, but each is distinct, and a small library is consequently required before the whole are comprised. In 'Kelly's Handbook' we have a concise and comprehensive record within the pages of a single portable volume of the whole of the titled, landed and official classes of society. The alphabetical arrangement has been adopted, so that reference to the volume is unattended with difficulty. The great care which Messrs. Kelly & Co. invariably take in the compilation of their directories has been bestowed upon the present volume, which is remarkably clear, concise and accurate."—Chart Journal, February 29th, 1885.

"When this book made its first appearance as the 'Upper Ten Thousand,' it was favourably reviewed in our columns. Since then it has changed its name and extended its plan, and this eleventh annual edition is a marvellous compilation. The information given is very accurate, and the value of the book for constant reference cannot be over-estimated."—The Queen, March 7th, 1885.

"As a comprehensive, complete, and accurate biographical dictionary and address book of the living notabilities of the realm, designed for daily use and general purposes, this is beyond comparison the best."—Edin. Scotch Gazette, March 7th, 1885.

"In the practised hands of Messrs. Kelly & Co. this work (originally brought out as the 'Upper Ten Thousand') has been developed into the handiest general book of reference of the kind that is before the public. Every possible care appears to have been taken with the corrections, and the volume is attractively got up."—Daily Chronicle, February 26th, 1885.
